Germans Are Withdrawing From Metz

Saves Life By Joining Up With Nazis-- But Briefly

By HAL BOYLE

With American Troops in Germany, Nov. 3 (Delayed) (AP)—The other night Pvt. John S. Hilderbrand, Oakmont, Pa., escaped death or capture by voluntarily joining up with the German Army—but briefly.

Hilderbrand and a First Infantry Division buddy, Pvt. Glen Curran, of Fairmont, W. Va., were on outpost patrol in the German home defenses beyond the Siegfried line.

They crawled forward through the darkness until they almost reached the Nazi line. Suddenly they became aware of a large enemy force coming their way.

"Beat 'em or Join 'em"

Fearing a large-scale attack impending, Hilderbrand and Curran immediately opened fire—hoping not so much to break it up as to warn their own men.

Behind them the American lines sprang into life. The doughboys leaped forward to deal with this midnight threat to positions dearly bought only a short time before. Artillerymen were alerted and stood ready by their guns.

In the flaming action that followed the two Yanks became separated. Hilderbrand found himself surrounded by the enemy and decided for the time being to follow that old slogan, "if you can't beat 'em—join 'em."

Tricks Nazis

Noticing that some Germans lacked helmets he hid his own headgear in the bushes, along with his automatic rifle which had run out of ammunition.

Just as he finished stowing them away, up came a German noncom. He grunted something in German.

"Ja, ja," Hilderbrand grunted back with the only German syllable in his vocabulary. Off went the noncom, satisfied.

A few seconds later American machine gun and artillery fire swept the area. A German commander shouted retreat and dark forms sped back in the moonlight.

Quit Germans Quick

Hilderbrand decided that this was a good time to resign from the German Army. He crawled into a shell hole until things quieted down, then worked his way back to his own lines where he was commended by the company commander, Capt. Lawrence J. Bour, Scranton, Pa.

"I was really sweating out our machine guns and artillery," said Hilderbrand. "Boy, they were rough!"

The next morning—bright and early—Hilderbrand worked up forward again and retrieved his hidden gear.

DELIVERY JOB BY JEEP

The mailman who braves rain, snow, sleet and fog to drop the income tax slip at your door has nothing on Staff Sergeant Loren Fifer.

He was determined to get those socks through to the company—and he did. On a routine delivery job, the sergeant was misdirected as he moved up to the front in his jeep. Merrily, he drove down a wrong road that even Sherman wouldn't have ventured along.

He was almost inside the German lines when the enemy opened up on him with an antitank gun and several machine pistols. Fifer whipped into the nearest farmyard—and surprised ag roup of German soldiers.

"And myself!" said the sergeant who comes from Indianapolis.

Ventilated by Shrapnel

The Germans welcomed him with a rain of potato masher grenades thrown with great enthusiasm but little accuracy.

"I began to think my load of socks would be warming the Jerries' feet this winter—and I was darned if I was going to let that happen," said Fifer. "We needed 'em ourselves."

In a mad dash toward his own lines, he cut across fields, bouncing in his seat like a rodeo cowboy on a brahma steer as the zinging bullets sang past.

He made it home unscratched. But all the boys in his company weren't too grateful—they didn't like that new brand of ventilated socks he brought back.

"A lot of them got shrapnel holes in them," acknowledged the sergeant sadly, then added, brightening up: "But there ain't any holes in me."

An Appeal

"Your assistance is needed and the most important job now for the people at home is to make the Sixth War Loan a success. To make sure of final victory we must redouble and sustain our efforts, both here and everywhere. The money must be raised and our men on all the fronts depends upon you. Contact your local War Finance committee and join the home front army as volunteer war bond workers. On behalf of your sons, brothers, husband, and friends in this great war theater I request that you do your part to see that the Sixth War Loan is vastly oversubscribed."

30 MILITARY BALLOTS MAY BE REJECTED

Approximately 30 of the military ballots returned to the county commissioners' office from the county men and women in the service will be declared void, it was indicated this morning.

It was reported at the office of the commissioners, who also constitute the county board of elections, that that number of ballots had been returned without proper jurat, or certification by the service man as to age, voting district, and the meeting of residence requirements.

An additional 50 or more ballots were returned with the jurat sworn before a non-commissioned officer, a practice which is not legal under the Pennsylvania voting law. A federal law under the soldier voting legislation provides, however, that a non-commissioned officer may a in the execution of the jurat.

Expect Over 900

The commissioners' office said that in all probability these ballots sworn to in accordance to the Federal law would be counted unless they were challenged by someone at the time of counting. The official count will begin November 22.

The military votes are still being received at the commissioners office. They can be returned anytime up to the day of counting if they were postmarked on or before November 7. Two more of the ballots were received today, bringing to 892 the total returned to date from 2,526 mailed before the election to service men.

Most of the military ballots coming in now are from foreign countries. The total returned before the official count is expected to pass the 900 mark, but probably will fall short of the 1,000 which were anticipated earlier in the fall.

LOCAL OFFICER IS IN FRANCE

(Special to The Times)

With U. S. Forces in France (By Mail)—Thousands of American soldiers in the fighting fronts are being supplied with warm winter clothing from a Quartermaster Depot in France where Lt. Col. Robert G. Geiselman is director of the supply division.

Woolen overcoats, trousers, shirts, jackets, underwear and socks, plus overshoes, are being shipped to troops by rail and motor truck, preparing them for winter operations.

The depot, where Nazis developed millions of square feet of storage space and built railroad sidings, was captured in the American sweep through France.

Colonel Geiselman, a member of the Reserve for 21 years, has been on active duty since 1941. Prior to going on active duty, he was field manager in Connecticut for the Curtis Publishing Co., with headquarters in Meriden, Conn. He also served for four years as a CCC camp director in Pennsylvania.

In the summer of 1918, he was a civilian telephone operator at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., serving under General Eisenhower, who was then a colonel.

Colonel Geiselman is the husband of Mrs. Edna Geiselman, 1837 Powhaton avenue, Petersburg, Va., and the son of Mrs. C. W. Myers, 33 E. Middle street, Gettysburg.

$100 Bequests For Church And Society

Bequests of $100 each to the Presbyterian church and the Missionary society of the church were made in the will of the late Miss Mary Agnes McAllister, who died November 6 in Lansdowne.

The will was filed this morning for probate at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house. Dr. James Alexander McAllister and John Horner McAllister were named executors of the estate. An estimate filed with the papers listed the value of personal property at $5,000 and that of real estate, which included properties at 30 East High street and 113 East Middle street, at $5,000.

OPENS NEW BUSINESS

Former Sheriff Daniel J. Wolff, who recently moved from Arendtsville to 16 Seminary avenue, announced today the opening of Wolff's Farm Supply business on Queen street, west of Steinwehr avenue. He will handle McCormick-Deering parts, new implements and farm machinery and truck, car and tractor batteries.

Pvt. Ira Slonaker Returns To Duty

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Slonaker, Fairfield R. 1, received a war Department telegram Sunday informing them that their son, Pvt. Ira Melvin Slonaker, 19, had returned to duty October 29.

Private Slonaker had been reported missing in action in France October 7 in a previous telegram received by the Slonakers October 30. He had gone into France through Italy. Mrs. Slonaker said this morning that she has not received any word from her son for about five weeks.

YOUTHS LOOT PARISH HOUSE

Five youths, ranging in age from 8 to 10 years, will be arraigned in juvenile court on charges of vandalism preferred by Borough Officer Charles W. Culp.

Officer Culp reported that over the week-end he apprehended four youths who admitted breaking into the Prince of Peace Episcopal church parish house, on West High street, where they did considerable damage.

Among other things Officer Culp said the youths spilled ink over the floor, scattered books and cards about the reading room, destroyed a statue of the Infant Child, stole a first aid kit, destroyed some tables and stole 45 cents in change. He said the youths had gained entrance to the parish house through a cellar window and committed the vandalism on the afternoons of November 7 and 9.

Stole From Cars

Three youths, two of whom were also involved in the parish house case, were apprehended for looting automobiles in Gettysburg. Among the loot were flashlights, steel wool, cigarettes, dice, car keys, loaf of bread and eggs. The eggs, Officer Culp said, were thrown through the living room window of an apartment house.

The local officer said that three of the five youths apprehended were involved in various acts of vandalism over the past several months.

The officer said that a brown leather jacket, stolen from a car had been discarded by the youths near the Episcopal church and that it was picked up by someone. Officer Culp asks that it be returned to borough police.

Borough Officer Paul B. Shealer assisted in the investigations.

SOLDIER FROM HANOVER KILLED

Pvt. Paul W. Pottorff, 22, serving as a member of a chemical battalion at Camp Shelby, Miss., died at camp Friday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock as the result of a shell explosion while firing on the range, according to a telegram received Saturday morning from the commanding officer there, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Pottorff, Hanover.

Private Pottorff was born October 29, 1922. He was inducted into the armed forces February 19, 1942. He first trained at Camp Tyson, Tenn., and later at Camp Rucker, Ala., before being sent to Camp Shelby, Miss. He had been active in the Friendship Fire company, Pennville, and had been employed by the Coulson Heel company, before his induction into the army.

Surviving are his parents, Milton H. and Carrie E. Sell Pottorff; six brothers, three of whom are also in the service of their country, and two sisters as follows: Milton E. Pottorff, Hanover; Raleigh S. Potorff, Hanover; Mrs. Helen Witters, Washington, D. C.; Pvt. Albert A. Pottorff, Camp Blanding, Fla.; T-5 Monroe E. Pottorff and Pvt. Henry C. Pottorff, both serving overseas somewhere in France; Mrs. Lloyd Cromer, Gettysburg, and Carl O. Pottorff, at home. He is also survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements are pending, awaiting the arrival of the body.

Rites Held For Earl R. Weikert

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the Allison funeral home, Fairfield, for Earl Weikert, 12, of Gettysburg, R. D., who was accidentally shot Tuesday evening. The Rev. John McCune, assisted by the Rev. Emmert G. Colestock, officiated. Interment was made in Union cemetery, Fairfield.

The pallbearers were Francis Weikert, Clyde Spangler, Edward Weikert, Harry Spangler, Allen Weikert and Harold Weikert.

Brothers In Service

Here are the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, 530 West Middle street, who are serving in the armed forces.

Pvt. John H. Lawrence, 23, who saw service in Africa, is now stationed at Ft. Meyer, Va.

Pfc. Floyd E. Lawrence, 26, who has been stationed somewhere in the Pacific for several years, returned home last week on furlough.

Sgt. Donald A. Lawrence, 20, is a gunner in the Air Corps. He has received awards for flights from a base in England.

Pvt. Raymond C. Lawrence, 31, is stationed in Italy.

News Collected At Random

At least 16 physicians were at Lincoln's side some time during the fateful night preceding his death at 7.22 a. m. April 15, 1865.

Three physicians, Dr. Charles Augustus Leale, Dr. Albert F. A King and Dr. Charles S. Taft, were in the theatre when the President was shot in the head.

Doctor Leale, 23, was the first to reach the President. He removed him from a chair to the floor and removed a clot which relieved intra-cranial pressure. He attempted to stimulate respiration by pressure on the throat. By pressure on the diaphragm he stimulated heart action. By forcible in-and-out breathing into the President's mouth he brought about heart and lung action. Lincoln was then moved to the home of W. Petersen, across the street.

The three physicians helped to carry Lincoln from the theatre. They probed for the bullet but were unable to locate it.

Dr. Robert King Stone, Lincoln's personal physician, arrived after the President had been moved from the theatre. Surgeon-General Joseph K. Barnes probed for the bullet but failed. With a longer probe he located the bullet but did not try to remove it. Dr. Ezra W. Abbott kept the all-night chart. Doctor Taft supported Lincoln's head most of the night. Other physicians summoned included:

Dr. Charles H. Crane, Dr. Edward Curtis, Dr. William Henry Ford, Dr. C. D. Gatch, Dr. Neal J. C. Hall, Dr. Charles Henry Lieberman, Dr. J. F. May, Dr. W. M. Notson, Dr. Robert King Stone, Dr. Lyman Beecher Todd and Dr. Ashbel Woodward.

Lincoln died in a bedroom in the Petersen home, 516, formerly 453, Tenth street, N.W. William T. Clark had occupied the room as a roomer. It was about 10x15 feet. Brownish paper with a white design covered the walls. Some engravings and a photograph hung on the walls. The floor was covered with a well-worn carpet.

County Group To Consider Library

Dr. Alfred D. Keator, state librarian, and Miss Evelyn Matthews, state extension librarian, will speak Wednesday evening at a court house meeting called by the "Adams County Citizens' Library Group." The session will be held at 8 o'clock.

Opportunities for state and federal aid in the establishment and operation of a public library in Adams county will be discussed in conjunction with local observance of Book Week. Means of furnishing library service for both boroughs and rural areas will be discussed.

The public is invited to attend with special invitations going out to officers and other representatives of civic groups throughout the county.

THANKSGIVING DINNER PRICES ARE RESTRICTED

Thanksgiving Day meals in restaurants this year generally will cost the same as in 1943, but in no case may the charge for meals on the holiday exceed by more than 15 per cent the restaurant's regular prices for Sunday dinners of the same class, the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration pointed out today.

All public eating and drinking establishments are now covered by nationwide ceiling prices as established by the national restaurant price regulation, which wenta into effect on July 31, 1944.

The national regulation stipulates that eating and drinking establishments throughout the United States may charge higher prices on Thanksgiving Day, as well as on Christmas and New Year's Day, only if they customarily charge higher prices on holidays. They are then permitted to charge no more than they customarily charged on these holidays and in no case may they charge more than 15 percent higher than the same establishment's Sunday prices for meals, food items or beverages of the same class.

Check Extreme Charges

When the new national regulation was prepared, in consultation with the National Restaurant Industry Advisory committee representing the industry in all parts of the country, it was decided to adopt the 15 per cent restriction on a nation-wide basis as experience had shown this was the best way of checking extreme charges on holidays

For New Year's Eve, a special provision allows an establishment to charge the prices that were in effect on New Year's Eve, 1942. The 15 per cent restriction does not apply then.

Restaurant operators who are uncertain as to their ceiling prices, or as to whether they are permitted to increase their prices, should get in touch with the OPA district office.

Yanks Closing 11-Mile Pincer About Old City

(By The Associated Press)

London, Nov. 13—The Germans were withdrawing from Metz today and American Third Army tanks and infantry sought to close the 11-mile gap separating the two arms of a pincers around the fortress-ringed French city and drive onto the Saar basin.

A field dispatch said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's infantry pushed their lines today to a point within five miles south of Metz. Allied headquarters announced that troops fighting southeast of the fortress city have driven into Chateau-Brehain, six miles north of Chateau-Salins.

Nineteen miles north of Metz, in the Koenigsmacher area, Patton's men restored their line after a counterattack and reinforced a newly won bridgehead across the Moselle below Thionville.

Small Advances

To the south, the American Seventh Army made small advances west of St. Die and east of Bruyeres. Headquarters announced capture of the villages of La Bolle, Les Moitrasses and La Chapelle.

Long enemy columns, including many horsedrawn vehicles, have been seen moving eastward from Metz along two highroads. The Germans were believed also to be attempting to tow some of the big guns from the city.

It was not clear whether the enemy retreat included all the forces in the Metz area or only specialized units and equipment. A withdrawal of only a limited number of troops apparently would indicate that the Germans were leaving a sacrifice garrison in the city itself.

With Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's offensive now entering its sixth day, American units driving up behind Metz from positions southeast of the city thus far have cut the Metz-Sarrebourg - Strasbourg and Metz-Forbach-Saarbrucken railway lines. The Americans also have thrust within two miles of the Metz-Saarlautern line so that its use can be denied to the Germans whenever the Allied command wishes, a front dispatch said.

The Germans still have another rail connection leading northeast from Metz by a roundabout way to Saarlautern and Saarbrucken, and it is of vital importance now to the gasoline-starved German army.

Inside Germany, the American First Army cleaned out more pillboxes near Schmidt, southeast of Aachen.

It Takes Blood

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes in an editorial today declared "there just isn't enough blood being given by the folks back home" for the bloodbank in the European theater of operations.

Under the editorial, headlined "It Takes Blood to Win a War," appeared a picture of British girls donating blood with the caption: "Stack this against what medical headquarters reports about blood shipments from the United States to the ETO."

The editorial went on to say that medics have a quota of five pints of blood for every GI in combat and thus far they have been able to store up only two pints for every man in action.

"For the lack of that blood—some suffering GI—many suffering GI's—will die," the editorial stated.

"Strangely enough blood donations in the states rise when the war news is bad and fall when it gets good," it continued. "But when the war news is good is when the blood is needed, because it takes blood—lots of blood—to make it good."

Cpl. Charles Appler Weds WAVE Officer

Lt. (j.g.) Geraldine Moore, Waves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Moore, Baltimore, and Cpl. Charles J. Appler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph U. Appler, of Gettysburg, were united in marriage Tuesday, October 24, in the post chapel at Camp Shelby, Miss., by the post chaplain.

Lieutenant Moore graduated from Maryland State Teachers' college and taught at Mt. Washington school before her induction. She is stationed with the Navy department at Washington, D. C.

Corporal Appler graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1926 and attended Gettysburg academy and the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. Before his induction in February, 1942, he was affiliated with the Andrews Paper House of York.

Ladies Night will be observed in the assembly room of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Yanks Squeezing 45,000 Japanese On Leyte Island

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 13 (AP)—A 2,300-foot peak overlooking Ormoc corridor battleground was in American hands today as the determined Yanks tightened their squeeze on probably 45,000 bitterly-resisting Japanese in the climactic fight for Leyte island.

While Ormoc itself was dealt an effective, 62-ton bombing, infantry units of the 24th Division driving south toward that last enemy reinforcement port gained three miles at one point to capture strategic Mt. Catabaran yesterday.

Along the main Carigara bay-Ormoc road, the main column of the 24th, aided by strong tank and air support, made "good progress against heavy opposition," Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's reinforced troops continued their attempts to break the American pressure, but a headquarters spokesman said the Yanks still held both the initiative and the preponderance of numbers.

No more enemy reinforcements were reported landed at Ormoc, where the Japanese lost six destroyers, four transports, 13 planes and most of 8,000 troops Saturday as American carrier planes wiped out a convoy.

Bombing of smoking Ormoc by heavy bombers caused "extensive destruction," MacArthur reported. The port on Leyte's west coast has been hit repeatedly by American bombers and fighters to prevent effective reinforcement of the squeezed Yamashita forces.

A spectacular daytime attack by Japanese fighters and divebombers on American shipping in crowded San Pedro bay on Leyte was reported by Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis.

"From the bridge of this ship," Davis wrote, "it was possible to see five different attacks under way simultaneously during the five-minute period.

2 Direct Hits

"One enemy plane scored a direct hit on the deck of a ship, which burst into flames. A moment later, a second ship was hit on the stern."

He saw four of the attackers downed.

(Japan in proclaiming the action in an Imperial communique today said one "enemy battleship and one transport were sunk in Leyte gulf by Nippon's "sure-hit-and-sure-death" suicide pilots.)

American aces added to their totals over the week-end. Maj Richard I. Bong, of Poplar, Wis., America's top fighter pilot, shot down two more to make his score 36. Maj. Thomas B McGuire, second highest-scoring ace in this theater, scored his 27th and 28th.

Pvt. Ira Slonaker Returns To Duty

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Slonaker, Fairfield R. 1, received a war Department telegram Sunday informing them that their son, Pvt. Ira Melvin Slonaker, 19, had returned to duty October 29.

Private Slonaker had been reported missing in action in France Ostober 7 in a previous telegram received by the Slonakers October 30. He had gone into France through Italy. Mrs. Slonaker said this morning that she has not received any word from her son for about five weeks.

YOUTHS LOOT PARISH HOUSE

Five youths, ranging in age from 8 to 10 years, will be arraigned in juvenile court on charges of vandalism preferred by Borough Officer Charles W. Culp.

Officer Culp reported that over the week-end he apprehended four youths who admitted breaking into the Prince of Peace Episcopal church parish house, on West High street, where they did considerable damage.

Among other things Officer Culp said the youths spilled ink over the floor, scattered books and cards about the reading room, destroyed a statue of the Infant Child, stole a first aid kit, destroyed some tables and stole 45 cents in change. He said the youths had gained entrance to the parish house through a cellar window and committed the vandalism on the afternoons of November 7 and 9.

Stole From Cars

Three youths, two of whom were also involved in the parish house case, were apprehended for looting automobiles in Gettysburg. Among the loot were flashlights, steel wool, cigarettes, dice, car keys, loaf of bread and eggs. The eggs, Officer Culp said, were thrown through the living room window of an apartment house.

The local officer said that three of the five youths apprehended were involved in various acts of vandalism over the past several months.

The officer said that a brown leather jacket, stolen from a car had been discarded by the youths near the Episcopal church, and that it was picked up by someone. Officer Culp asks that it be returned to borough police.

Borough Officer Paul B. Shealer assisted in the investigations.

SOLDIER FROM HANOVER KILLED

Pvt. Paul W. Pottorff, 22, serving as a member of a chemical battalion at Camp Shelby, Miss., died at camp Friday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock as the result of a shell explosion while firing on the range, according to a telegram received Saturday morning from the commanding officer there, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. At least 16 physicians were at Lincoln's side some time during the fateful night preceding his death at 7:22 a. m. April 15, 1865.

Three physicians, Dr. Charles Augustus Leale, Dr. Albert F. A. King and Dr. Charles S. Taft, were in the theatre when the President was shot in the head.

Doctor Leale, 23, was the first to reach the President. He removed him from a chair to the floor and removed a clot which relieved intra-cranial pressure. He attempted to stimulate respiration by pressure on the throat. By pressure on the diaphragm he stimulated heart action. By forcible in-and-out breathing into the President's mouth he brought about heart and lung action. Lincoln was then moved to the home of W. Petersen, across the street.

The three physicians helped to carry Lincoln from the theatre. They probed for the bullet but were unable to locate it.

Dr. Robert King Stone, Lincoln's personal physician, arrived after the President had been moved from the theatre. Surgeon-General Joseph K. Barnes probed for the bullet but failed. With a longer probe he located the bullet but did not try to remove it. Dr. Ezra W. Abbott kept the all-night chart. Doctor Taft supported Lincoln's head most of the night. Other physicians summoned included: Dr. Charles H. Crane, Dr. Edward Curtis, Dr. William Henry Ford, Dr. C. D. Gatch, Dr. Neal J. C. Hall, Dr. Charles Henry Lieberman, Dr. J. F. May, Dr. W. M. Notson, Dr. Robert King Stone, Dr. Lyman Beecher Todd and Dr. Ashbel Woodward.

County Group To Consider Library

Dr. Alfred D. Keator, state librarian, and Miss Evelyn Matthews, state extension librarian, will speak Wednesday evening at a court house meeting called by the "Adams County Citizens' Library Group." The session will be held at 8 o'clock.

Opportunities for state and federal aid in the establishment and operation of a public library in Adams county will be discussed in conjunction with local observance of Book Week. Means of furnishing library service for both boroughs and rural areas will be discussed.

The public is invited to attend with special invitations going out to officers and other representatives of civic groups throughout the county.

THANKSGIVING DINNER PRICES ARE RESTRICTED

Thanksgiving Day meals in restaurants this year generally will cost the same as in 1943, but in no case may the charge for meals on the holiday exceed by more than 15 per cent the restaurant's regular prices for Sunday dinners of the same class, the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration pointed out today.

All public eating and drinking establishments are now covered by nationwide ceiling prices as established by the national restaurant price regulation, which wenta into effect on July 31, 1944.

The national regulation stipulates that eating and drinking establishments throughout the United States may charge higher prices on Thanksgiving Day, as well as on Christmas and New Year's Day, only if they customarily charge higher prices on holidays. They are then permitted to charge no more than they sustomarily charged on these holidays and in no case may they charge more than 15 percent higher than the same establishment's Sunday prices for meals, food items or beverages of the same class.

Check Extreme Charges

When the new national regulation was prepared, in consultation with the National Restaurant Industry Advisory committee representing the industry in all parts of the country, it was decided to adopt the 15 per cent restriction on a nation-wide basis as experience had shown this was the best way of checking extreme charges on holidays.

For New Year's Eve, a special provision allows an establishment to charge the prices that were in effect on New Year's Eve, 1942. The 15 per cent restriction does not apply then.

Restaurant operators who are uncertain as to their ceiling prices, or as to whether they are permitted to increase their prices, should get in touch with the OPA district office.

Yanks Closing 11-Mile Pincer About Old City

(By The Associated Press)

London, Nov. 13—The Germans were withdrawing from Metz today and American Third Army tanks and infantry sought to close the 11-mile gap separating the two arms of a pincers around the fortress-ringed French city and drive onto the Saar basin.

A field dispatch said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's infantry pushed their lines today to a point within five miles south of Metz. Allied headquarters announced that troops fighting southeast of the fortress city have driven into Chateau-Brehain, six miles north of Chateau-Salins.

Nineteen miles north of Metz, in the Koenigsmacher area, Patton's men restored their line after a counterattack and reinforced a newly won bridgehead across the Moselle below Thionville.

Small Advances

To the south, the American Seventh Army made small advances west of St. Die and east of Bruyeres. Headquarters announced capture of the villages of La Bolle, Les Moitrasses and La Chapelle.

Long enemy columns, including many horsedrawn vehicles, have been seen moving eastward from Metz along two highroads. The Germans were believed also to be attempting to tow some of the big guns from the city.

It was not clear whether the enemy retreat included all the forces in the Metz area or only specialized units and equipment. A withdrawal of only a limited number of troops apparently would indicate that the Germans were leaving a sacrifice garrison in the city itself.

With Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's offensive now entering its sixth day, American units driving up behind Metz from positions southeast of the city thus far have cut the Metz-Sarrebourg - Strasbourg and Metz-Forbach-Saarbrucken railway lines. The Americans also have thrust within two miles of the Metz-Saarlautern line so that its use can be denied to the Germans whenever the Allied command wishes, a front dispatch said.

The Germans still have another rail connection leading northeast from Metz by a roundabout way to Saarlautern and Saarbrucken, and it is of vital importance now to the gasoline-starved German army.

Inside Germany, the American First Army cleaned out more pillboxes near Schmidt, southeast of Aachen.

It Takes Blood

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes in an editorial today declared "there just isn't enough blood being given by the folks back home" for the bloodbank in the European theater of operations.

Under the editorial, headlined "It Takes Blood to Win a War," appeared a picture of British girls donating blood with the caption: "Stack this against what medical headquarters reports about blood shipments from the United States to the ETO."

The editorial went on to say that medics have a quota of five pints of blood for every GI in combat and thus far they have been able to store up only two pints for every man in action.

"For the lack of that blood—some suffering GI—many suffering GI's—will die," the editorial stated.

"Strangely enough blood donations in the states rise when the war news is bad and fall when it gets good," it continued. "But when the war news is good is when the blood is needed, because it takes blood—lots of blood—to make it good."

Cpl. Charles Appler Weds WAVE Officer

Lt. (j.g.) Geraldine Moore, Waves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Moore, Baltimore, and Cpl. Charles J. Appler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph U. Appler, of Gettysburg, were united in marriage Tuesday, October 24, in the post chapel at Camp Shelby, Miss., by the post chaplain.

Lieutenant Moore graduated from Maryland State Teachers' college and taught at Mt. Washington school before her induction. She is stationed with the Navy department at Washington, D. C.

Corporal Appler graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1928 and attended Gettysburg academy and the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. Before his induction in February, 1942, he was affiliated with the Andrews Paper House of York.

Ladies Night will be observed in the assembly room of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Yanks Squeezing 45,000 Japanese On Leyte Island

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 13 (AP)—A 2,300-foot peak overlooking Ormoc corridor battleground was in American hands today as the determined Yanks tightened their squeeze on probably 45,000 bitterly-resisting Japanese in the climactic fight for Leyte island.

While Ormoc itself was dealt an effective, 62-ton bombing, infantry units of the 24th Division driving south toward that last enemy reinforcement port gained three miles at one point to capture strategic Mt. Catabaran yesterday.

Along the main Carigara bay-Ormoc road, the main column of the 24th, aided by strong tank and air support, made "good progress against heavy opposition," Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's reinforced troops continued their attemps to break the American pressure, but a headquarters spokesman said the Yanks still held both the initiative and the preponderance of numbers.

No more enemy reinforcements were reported landed at Ormoc, where the Japanese lost six destroyers, four transports, 13 planes and most of 8,000 troops Saturday as American carrier planes wiped out a convoy.

Bombing of smoking Ormoc by heavy bombers caused "extensive destruction," MacArthur reported. The port on Leyte's west coast has been hit repeatedly by American bombers and fighters to prevent effective reinforcement of the squeezed Yamashita forces.

A spectacular daytime attack by Japanese fighters and divebombers on American shipping in crowded San Pedro bay on Leyte was reported by Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis.

"From the bridge of this ship," Davis wrote, "it was possible to see five different attacks under way simultaneously during the five-minute period.

2 Direct Hits

"One enemy plane scored a direct hit on the deck of a ship, which burst into flames. A moment later, a second ship was hit on the setrn."

He saw four of the attackers downed.

(Japan in proclaiming the action in an Imperial communique today said one "enemy battleship and one transport were sunk in Leyte gulf by Nippon's "sure-hit-and-sure-death" suicide pilots.)

American aces added to their totals over the week-end. Maj. Richard I. Bong, of Poplar, Wis., America's top fighter pilot, shot down two more to make his score 36. Maj. Thomas B McGuire, second highest-scoring ace in this theater, scored his 27th and 28th.

Germans Are Withdrawing From Metz

Saves Life By Joining Up With Nazis--But Briefly

By HAL BOYLE

With American Troops in Germany, Nov. 3 (Delayed) (AP)—The other night Pvt. John S. Hilderbrand, Oakmont, Pa., escaped death or capture by voluntarily joining up with the German Army—but briefly.

Hilderbrand and a First Infantry Division buddy, Pvt. Glen Curran, of Fairmont, W. Va., were on outpost patrol in the German home defenses beyond the Siegfried line.

They crawled forward through the darkness until they almost reached the Nazi line. Suddenly they became aware of a large enemy force coming their way.

"Beat 'em or Join 'em"

Fearing a large-scale attack impending, Hilderbrand and Curran immediately opened fire—hoping not so much to break it up as to warn their own men.

Behind them the American lines sprang into life. The doughboys leaped forward to deal with this midnight threat to positions dearly bought only a short time before. Artillerymen were alerted and stood ready by their guns.

In the flaming action that followed the two Yanks became separated. Hilderbrand found himself surrounded by the enemy and decided for the time being to follow that old slogan, "if you can't beat 'em—join 'em."

Tricks Nazis

Noticing that some Germans lacked helmets he hid his own headgear in the bushes, along with his automatic rifle which had run out or ammunition.

Just as he finished stowing them away, up came a German noncom. He grunted something in German.

"Ja, ja," Hilderbrand grunted back with the only German syllable in his vocabulary. Off went the noncom, satisfied.

A few seconds later American machine gun and artillery fire swept the area. A German commander shouted retreat and dark forms sped back in the moonlight.

Quit Germans Quick

Hilderbrand decided that this was a good time to resign from the German Army. He crawled into a shell hole until things quieted down, then worked his way back to his own lines where he was commended by the company commander, Capt. Lawrence J. Bour, Scranton, Pa.

"I was really sweating out our machine guns and artillery," said Hilderbrand. "Boy, they were rough!"

The next morning—bright and early—Hilderbrand worked up forward again and retrieved his hidden gear.

DELIVERY JOB BY JEEP

The mailman who braves rain, snow, sleet and fog to drop the income tax slip at your door has nothing on Staff Sergeant Loren Fifer.

He was determined to get those socks through to the company—and he did. On a routine delivery job, the sergeant was misdirected as he moved up to the front in his jeep. Merrily, he drove down a wrong road that even Sherman wouldn't have ventured along.

He was almost inside the German lines when the enemy opened up on him with an antitank gun and several machine pistols. Fifer whipped into tne nearest farmyard—and surprised ag roup of German soldiers.

"And myself!" said the sergeant who comes from Indianapolis.

Ventilated by Shrapnel

The Germans welcomed him with a rain of potato masher grenades thrown with great enthusiasm but little accuracy.

"I began to think my load of socks would be warming the Jerries' feet this winter—and I was darned if I was going to let that happen," said Fifer. "We needed 'em ourselves."

In a mad dash toward his own lines, he cut across fields, bouncing in his seat like a rodeo cowboy on a brahma steer as the zinging bullets sang past.

He made it home unscratched. But all the boys in his company weren't too grateful—they didn't like that new brand of ventilated socks he brought back.

"A lot of them got shrapnel holes in them," acknowledged the sergeant sadly, then added, brightening up: "But there ain't any holes in me."

An Appeal

"Your assistance is needed and the most important job now for the people at home is to make the Sixth War Loan a success. To make sure of final victory we must redouble and sustain our efforts, both here and everywhere. The money must be raised and our men on all the fronts depends upon you. Contact your local War Finance committee and join the home front army as volunteer war bond workers. On behalf of your sons, brothers, husband, and friends in this great war theater I request that you do your part to see that the Sixth War Loan is vastly oversubscribed."

30 MILITARY BALLOTS MAY BE REJECTED

Approximately 30 of the military ballots returned to the county commissioners' office from the county men and women in the service will be declared void, it was indicated this morning.

It was reported at the office of the commissioners, who also constitute the county board of elections, that that number of ballots had been returned without proper jurat, or certification by the service man as to age, voting district, and the meeting of residence requirements.

An additional 50 or more ballots were returned with the jurat sworn before a non-commissioned officer, a practice which is not legal under the Pennsylvania voting law. A federal law under the soldier voting legislation provides, however, that a non-commissioned officer may a in the execution of the jurat.

Expect Over 900

The commissioners' office said that in all probability these ballots sworn to in accordance to the Federal law would be counted unless they were challenged by someone at the time of counting. The official count will begin November 22.

The military votes are still being received at the commissioners office. They can be returned anytime up to the day of counting if they were postmarked on or before November 7. Two more of the ballots were received today, bringing to 892 the total returned to date from 2,526 mailed before the election to service men.

Most of the military ballots coming in now are from foreign countries. The total returned before the official count is expected to pass the 900 mark, but probably will fall short of the 1,000 which were anticipated earlier in the fall.

LOCAL OFFICER IS IN FRANCE

(Special to The Times)

With U. S. Forces in France (By Mail)—Thousands of American soldiers in the fighting fronts are being supplied with warm winter clothing from a Quartermaster Depot in France where Lt. Col. Robert G. Geiselman is director of the supply division.

Woolen overcoats, trousers, shirts, jackets, underwear and socks, plus overshoes, are being shipped to troops by rail and motor truck, preparing them for winter operations.

The depot, where Nazis developed millions of square feet of storage space and built railroad sidings, was captured in the American sweep through France.

Colonel Geiselman, a member of the Reserve for 21 years, has been on active duty since 1941. Prior to going on active duty, he was field manager in Connecticut for the Curtis Publishing Co., with headquarters in Meridan, Conn. He also served for four years as a CCC camp director in Pennsylvania.

In the summer of 1918, he was a civilian telephone operator at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., serving under General Eisenhower, who was then a colonel.

Colonel Geiselman is the husband of Mrs. Edna Geiselman, 1837 Powhaton avenue, Petersburg, Va., and the son of Mrs. C. W. Myers, 32 E. Middle street, Gettysburg.

County Group To Consider Library

Dr. Alfred D. Keator, state librarian, and Miss Evelyn Matthews, state extension librarian, will speak Wednesday evening at a court house meeting called by the "Adams County Citizens' Library Group." The session will be held at 8 o'clock.

Opportunities for state and federal aid in the establishment and operation of a public library in Adams county will be discussed in conjunction with local observance of Book Week. Means of furnishing library service for both boroughs and rural areas will be discussed.

The public is invited to attend with special invitations going out to officers and other representatives of civic groups throughout the county.

THANKSGIVING DINNER PRICES ARE RESTRICTED

Thanksgiving Day meals in restaurants this year generally will cost the same as in 1943, but in no case may the charge for meals on the holiday exceed by more than 15 per cent the restaurant's regular prices for Sunday dinners of the same class, the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration pointed out today.

All public eating and drinking establishments are now covered by nationwide ceiling prices as established by the national restaurant price regulation, which wenta into effect on July 31, 1944.

The national regulation stipulates that eating and drinking establishments throughout the United States may charge higher prices on Thanksgiving Day, as well as on Christmas and New Year's Day, only if they customarily charge higher prices on holidays. They are then permitted to charge no more than they sustomarily charged on these holidays and in no case may they charge more than 15 percent higher than the same establishment's Sunday prices for meals, food items or beverages of the same class.

Check Extreme Charges

When the new national regulation was prepared, in consultation with the National Restaurant Industry Advisory committee representing the industry in all parts of the country, it was decided to adopt the 15 per cent restriction on a nation-wide basis as experience had shown this was the best way of checking extreme charges on holidays.

For New Year's Eve, a special provision allows an establishment to charge the prices that were in effect on New Year's Eve, 1942. The 15 per cent restriction does not apply then.

Restaurant operators who are uncertain as to their ceiling prices, or as to whether they are permitted to increase their prices, should get in touch with the OPA district office.

Yanks Closing 11-Mile Pincer About Old City

(By The Associated Press)

London, Nov. 13—The Germans were withdrawing from Metz today and American Third Army tanks and infantry sought to close the 11-mile gap separating the two arms of a pincers around the fortress-ringed French city and drive onto the Saar basin.

A field dispatch said Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's infantry pushed their lines today to a point within five miles south of Metz. Allied headquarters announced that troops fighting southeast of the fortress city have driven into Chateau-Brehain, six miles north of Chateau-Salins.

Nineteen miles north of Metz, in the Koenigsmacher area, Patton's men restored their line after a counterattack and reinforced a newly won bridgehead across the Moselle below Thionville.

Small Advances

To the south, the American Seventh Army made small advances west of St. Die and east of Bruyeres. Headquarters announced capture of the villages of La Bolle, Les Moitrasses and La Chapelle.

Long enemy columns, including many horsedrawn vehicles, have been seen moving eastward from Metz along two highroads. The Germans were believed also to be attempting to tow some of the big guns from the city.

It was not clear whether the enemy retreat included all the forces in the Metz area or only specialized units and equipment. A withdrawal of only a limited number of troops apparently would indicate that the Germans were leaving a sacrifice garrison in the city itself.

With Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's offensive now entering its sixth day, American units driving up behind Metz from positions southeast of the city thus far have cut the Metz-Sarrebourg - Strasbourg and Metz-Forbach-Saarbrucken railway lines. The Americans also have thrust within two miles of the Metz-Saarlautern line so that its use can be denied to the Germans whenever the Allied command wishes, a front dispatch said.

The Germans still have another rail connection leading northeast from Metz by a roundabout way to Saarlautern and Saarbrucken, and it is of vital importance now to the gasoline-starved German army.

Inside Germany, the American First Army cleaned out more pillboxes near Schmidt, southeast of Aachen.

It Takes Blood

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes in an editorial today declared "there just isn't enough blood being given by the folks back home" for the bloodbank in the European theater of operations.

Under the editorial, headlined "It Takes Blood to Win a War," appeared a picture of British girls donating blood with the caption: "Stack this against what medical headquarters reports about blood shipments from the United States to the ETO."

The editorial went on to say that medics have a quota of five pints of blood for every GI in combat and thus far they have been able to store up only two pints for every man in action.

"For the lack of that blood—some suffering GI—many suffering GI's—will die," the editorial stated.

"Strangely enough blood donations in the states rise when the war news is bad and fall when it gets good," it continued. "But when the war news is good is when the blood is needed, because it takes blood—lots of blood—to make it good."

Cpl. Charles Appler Weds WAVE Officer

Lt. (j.g.) Geraldine Moore, Waves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Moore, Baltimore, and Cpl. Charles J. Appler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph U. Appler, of Gettysburg, were united in marriage Tuesday, October 24, in the post chapel at Camp Shelby, Miss., by the post chaplain.

Lieutenant Moore graduated from Maryland State Teachers' college and taught at Mt. Washington school before her induction. She is stationed with the Navy department at Washington, D. C.

Corporal Appler graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1928 and attended Gettysburg academy and the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. Before his induction in February, 1942, he was affiliated with the Andrews Paper House of York.

Ladies Night will be observed in the assembly room of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Yanks Squeezing 45,000 Japanese On Leyte Island

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 13 (AP)—A 2,300-foot peak overlooking Ormoc corridor battleground was in American hands today as the determined Yanks tightened their squeeze on probably 45,000 bitterly-resisting Japanese in the climactic fight for Leyte island.

While Ormoc itself was dealt an effective, 62-ton bombing, infantry units of the 24th Division driving south toward that last enemy reinforcement port gained three miles at one point to capture strategic Mt. Catabaran yesterday.

Along the main Carigara bay-Ormoc road, the main column of the 24th, aided by strong tank and air support, made "good progress against heavy opposition," Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's reinforced troops continued their attemps to break the American pressure, but a headquarters spokesman said the Yanks still held both the initiative and the preponderance of numbers.

No more enemy reinforcements were reported landed at Ormoc, where the Japanese lost six destroyers, four transports, 13 planes and most of 8,000 troops Saturday as American carrier planes wiped out a convoy.

Bombing of smoking Ormoc by heavy bombers caused "extensive destruction," MacArthur reported. The port on Leyte's west coast has been hit repeatedly by American bombers and fighters to prevent effective reinforcement of the squeezed Yamashita forces.

A spectacular daytime attack by Japanese fighters and divebombers on American shipping in crowded San Pedro bay on Leyte was reported by Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis.

"From the bridge of this ship," Davis wrote, "it was possible to see five different attacks under way simultaneously during the five-minute period.

2 Direct Hits

"One enemy plane scored a direct hit on the deck of a ship, which burst into flames. A moment later, a second ship was hit on the setrn."

He saw four of the attackers downed.

(Japan in proclaiming the action in an Imperial communique today said one "enemy battleship and one transport were sunk in Leyte gulf by Nippon's "sure-hit-and-sure-death" suicide pilots.)

American aces added to their totals over the week-end. Maj. Richard I. Bong, of Poplar, Wis., America's top fighter pilot, shot down two more to make his score 36. Maj. Thomas B McGuire, second highest-scoring ace in this theater, scored his 27th and 28th.

PATTON DEALS OPENING BLOW IN RHINE DRIVE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Associated Press War Analyst)

The way things are developing on the western front it looks as though Uncle Sam's two-gun General Patton again has been assigned one of those tough pioneering jobs which he does so well—this time to strike the real opening blow of the all-out Allied offensive against the Rhine defenses.

This isn't to say that Patton necessarily has been chosen as spear-head of the big drive. That will be decided later in accordance with developments, and it may be that his task will be to run interference for another army which is carrying the ball.

However, the American Third Army's thus far successful offensive in the highly strategic Metz sector bears the earmarks of being the curtain raiser.

Superior Power

Patton's thrust about both sides of the powerful Metz fortifications towards the great Saar valley industrial region strikes me as being the first of several attacks which we may expect to be mounted along the extended Allied front at intervals. If this is what's under way we shall have a fresh demonstration of tactics which have served the world's generals for centuries.

The idea is that you hit your enemy a hard blow at an important point. Then when he withdraws forces from another sector to reinforce the spot attacked, why you slam him in the zone just weakened. If he calls on some other spot for help, you hit him there as well. Finally when one of these enemy refenses begins to cave, you pile in heavy reinforcements and give him the works in an effort to break through there.

Of course the success of these tactics on the western front depend on the Allies having vastly superior striking power, and fortunately we do have this in all categories. However, we shouldn't delude ourselves that this advantage will make things easy, because the Hitlerites are making a grim last-ditch stand, and while they're woefully weak in manpower and in all other departments, they do have the advantage of the strong Siegfried and Rhine fortifications.

Nazis Worried

Don't the Hitlerites know what's happening to them? Sure they do, but they haven't sufficient strength to stage counter drives to keep Eisenhower off balance. They've got to depend largely on the Siegfried line and that wide, swift river which in itself is a most formidable barrier.

The Boche know what's cooking all right, as witness that remarkable proclamation in Hitler's name, calling on the German people to fight on to the death—to defend the country "house to house and street to street." Meanwhile all Europe is wondering where Hitler is—whether he's dead or ill or whether that abnormal brain of his finally has gone mad.

What the Nazis don't know is where Eisenhower intends to stage the breakthrough along his 450 mile front. Perhaps he doesn't know himself, although he has a shrewd idea. Naturally he will develop the most feasible spot.

Antwerp Mainstay

That could be on the southern flank, where the American Third Army under Patton, and the American Seventh under Patch, are operating. It could be up north in that hotly debated Aachen sector which leads to Cologne and Germany's all-important industrial Ruhr region. It could be on the extreme northern wing where the British ostensibly are set to outflank the Nazi battle-line and sweep into the Ruhr and on to Berlin over wide-open spaces.

All things considered, observers rather expect the main Allied attack to come on the north. A highly important reason is that the great port of Antwerp lies directly behind that northern front. One of Eisenhower's pressing problems is to maintain the vast stream of supplies necessary for a grand offensive. Antwerp is likely to be his mainstay.

Ben Ludlow Will Address Bond Group

Ben Ludlow, of Philadelphia, former chairman of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, will be the speaker at the Adams County War Finance Committee dinner-meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg Friday evening at 6 o'clock, Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, announced today.

Local Soldiers On Italian Front

(Special to The Times)

With the Fifth Army, Italy (By Mail)—Captain Paul L. Miller, 47 Chambersburg street, Gettysburg, and Cpl. Clifford Sorile, Gettysburg R. 5, are members of the 698th Field Artillery Battalion, whose big guns recently fired the first shells into the Po Valley of Italy for Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's Fifth army.

Operating six 240-millimeter howitzers and two eight-inch guns, the battalion has been knocking out bridges, pillboxes, enemy guns and entire towns at extreme ranges throughout the Italian campaign.

Operating as "Artillery Reconnaissance," a specially organized force, the battalion achieved unique success in observation of long-range fire, innovating a system of fire control depending on high-performance military aircraft. In these operations the 698th destroyed 20 bridges and knocked out or damaged 72 enemy guns.

QUALIFIES AS SHARPSHOOTER

Private William C. Snyder, trainee of C. Company, 174th Infantry replacement Training Battalion, Camp Hood, Texas, qualified as sharpshooter with the Army's M-1 Rifle according to Lieutenant Colonel Earl W. Hunting, Battalion Commander. The course consisted of firing at 200, 300 and 500 yards in both slow and sustained fire.

Private Snyder, who is now in his seventh week of Infantry Training, has also fired the .30 calibre carbine, the Anti-tank Rocket Launcher (Bazooka), and Rifle Grenades. He has thrown Hand Grenades under simulated combat conditions and later in his training he will fire the Light Machine Gun, the 60mm Mortar, and the Browning Automatic Rifle, all under simulated combat conditions

Pvt. Snyder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Spencer Snyder of York Springs.

CAPTURE NAZIS IN OIL DRUMS

Philadelphia, Nov. 13 (AP)—Two German prisoners of war who escaped from a Nebraska prison camp last July in an effort to return to Germany to fight for "Hitler, our leader," were in federal custody today after being discovered aboard the Spanish merchant ship Castilla Ampudia at a south Philadelphia pier.

FBI agents announced their capture last night after an intensive search which finally revealed them hiding in empty oil drums. Customs guards instituted the search, aided by the Volunteer Port Security Force after the ship's carpenter reported that he had seen two strangers sneak aboard.

The men, who escaped the Scotts Bluff, Neb., prisoner of war camp July 11, were identified as Karl Tomola, 46, an infantryman, and Wolfgang Kurzer, 22, bomber co-pilot.

John F. Sears, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said the men denied that any member of the ship's crew had helped them.

Sears said that the pair told him they had worked on Canadian farms for several weeks after their escape and then crossed the border at Rouse's Point, N. Y. They arrived in New York city last week, they said, and came here when they learned that Spanish and Portuguese ships operated out of Philadelphia.

Lt. B. M. Bailey Killed In Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Bailey, Millersburg, have received word that their son, Second Lt. Benjamin M. Bailey, crew member of a Flying Fortress, was killed in a plane crash at Touncester, England, October 11. He is grandson of Charles I. Bushey, York Springs, and the late Luella Wilt Bushey. He is a nephew of the following York Springs residents: Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Starry, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Hetherington and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kennedy.

The 22-year-old flier was inducted into the Army Air Forces at Nashville, Tennessee, April 11, 1943, and trained at Montgomery, Alabama; Avon Park, Florida; and Columbus, Mississippi, where he received his wings and commission. After a 10-day furlough he returned to Avon Park, where he was assigned to the crew of a B-17. He went overseas September 2, arriving in England September 23. He was assigned to Gen. Doolittle's Eighth Air Force.

He was graduated from Millersburg high school in 1940 and entered Pennsylvania State college in the fall of that year.

He is survived by his parents and three brothers, Glenn, Lee and Stanley, all serving overseas with the armed forces and three sisters.

$500,000,000 In Xmas Club Funds

Five hundred million dollars will be distributed to about seven million Christmas club members by forty-eight hundred banking and savings institutions and other organizations during Post-War Prosperity Week, starting Monday, November 27, according to an estimate released by Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, a corporation.

The total distribution is 20 per cent ahead of last year and represents a high since the year of the bank holiday. The average per-member distribution increased to approximately $70 as compared with $56 last year. This average check amount represents an all-time record in the 34 years of Christmas Club operation.

Pennsylvania banks will pay out $57,000,000, it was announced.

Adams county banks are expected to announce their Christmas club amounts sometime next week.

New Sugar Stamp Valid Thursday

Sugar Stamp 34 in war ration book four will be good for buying five pounds of sugar beginning November 16, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

(OPA has been validating a sugar stamp—good for five pounds—every two and one-half months since March 16, 1943.)

The stamp, like other sugar stamps now being used, will be good indefinitely for buying sugar. Other stamps, validated in the past, which also are good indefinitely for use in buying sugar are Nos. 30, 31, 32 and 33.

Sugar stamp No. 40, validated February 1, 1944, is good for buying five pounds of sugar for home canning through February 28, 1945.

An amendment to Ration Order 3, officially validating Sugar stamp 34 will be issued soon, OPA said.

Install Officers For Young People

Officers of Ky-Ro-Nika, the new young peoples' group at the Presbyterian church, were installed by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, pastor, during the Sunday school assembly period. The group meets each Sunday afternoon.

The officers include: President, Janice Gigous; vice president, Geraldine Caskey; secretary, Laura Witherow; treasurer, Jean Mountain; pianist, Barbara Ketterman; chairman of the program committee, Geraldine Caskey; chairman of the social committee, Betty Ketterman, and chairman of the membership committee, Jean Mountain. Members of the various committees will be named soon.

Has Emergency Operation Here

Home on her first overnight pass since entering Union Memorial hospital in Baltimore as a Cadet Nurse September 13, Miss Doris J. Berkheimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Berkheimer, 51 West Stevens street, submitted to an emergency appendicitis operation at noon Sunday at the Warner hospital.

She was taken ill about 6 a. m. Sunday. After an examination an immediate operation was decided upon. Her condition today is reported to be good.

Miss Berkheimer was graduated from Gettysburg high school this year.

DELONE WINNER

DeLone High's football squad, rapidly developing into one of the best Catholic school teams in the state, came from behind to defeat Shippensburg high here Saturday afternoon, 20 to 13. It was the fifth consecutive win for Coach Eddie Waleski's boys following four straight defeats. The Squires will wind up the home season by opposing the Harrisburg Catholic high eleven next Sunday on the McSherrystown field.

Few Changes By Official Count

Although several minor changes were revealed in the official count of ballots cast in the county in the election last Tuesday, there was no change in the outcome of any of the contests.

The official count revealed errors of from more than 200 down to a few ballots, but the official returns remained essentially the same as the unofficial count announced last Wednesday.

The complete returns were as follows:

TWO RED CROSS MEETINGS HERE

Two meetings to be held within the next week at the local American Red Cross chapter offices on Baltimore street were announced this morning by Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary.

The first will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the nutrition committee when Miss Audrey Hoffpauir, nutrition field representative from the Red Cross eastern area office, will visit the local chapter. Mrs. Bernice Staley, local nutrition chairman has issued a call for all members of her committee to be present. She also has invited all of the home economics teachers and all of the school nurses from the county schools.

Miss Hoffpaur will be at the office during the day to hold meetings with chapter officers and other groups.

A second meeting, next Monday evening, at 7 o'clock, will be the first session in a first aid class to be given during the winter by Mrs. George Boehner. Mrs. Boehner will instruct in a 30-hour course. Although a number of persons already have signed up for the class, it still is open to the public, Miss McMillan said, and any one interested may attend the opening meeting. Dates on which the instruction will be given and times for future meetings will be discussed and decided upon Monday.

PATTON DEALS OPENING BLOW IN RHINE DRIVE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The way things are developing on the western front it looks as though Uncle Sam's two-gun General Patton again has been assigned one of those tough pioneering jobs which he does so well—this time to strike the real opening blow of the all-out Allied offensive against the Rhine defenses.

This isn't to say that Patton necessarily has been chosen as spear-head of the big drive. That will be decided later in accordance with developments, and it may be that his task will be to run interference for another army which is carrying the ball.

However, the American Third Army's thus for successful offensive in the highly strategic Metz sector bears the earmarks of being the curtain raiser.

Superior Power

Patton's thrust about both sides of the powerful Metz fortifications towards the great Saar valley industrial region strikes me as being the first of several attacks which we may expect to be mounted along the extended Allied front at intervals. If this is what's under way we shall have a fresh demonstration of tactics which have served the world's generals for centuries.

The idea is that you hit your enemy a hard blow at an important point. Then when he withdraws forces from another sector to reinforce the spot attacked, why you slam him in the zone just weakened. If he calls on some other spot for help, you hit him there as well. Finally when one of these enemy refenses begins to cave, you pile in heavy reinforcements and give him the works in an effort to break through there.

Of course the success of these tactics on the western front depend on the Allies having vastly superior striking power, and fortunately we do have this in all categories. However, we shouldn't delude ourselves that this advantage will make things easy, because the Hitlerites are making a grim last-ditch stand, and while they're woefully weak in manpower and in all other departments, they do have the advantage of the strong Siegfried and Rhine fortifications.

Nazis Worried

Don't the Hitlerites know what's happening to them? Sure they do, but they haven't sufficient strength to stage counter drives to keep Eisenhower off balance. They've got to depend largely on the Siegfried line and that wide, swift river which in itself is a most formidable barrier.

The Boche know what's cooking all right, as witness that remarkable proclamation in Hitler's name, calling on the German people to fight on to the death—to defend the country "house to house and street to street." Meanwhile all Europe is wondering where Hitler is—whether he's dead or ill or whether that abnormal brain of his finally has gone mad.

What the Nazis don't know is where Eisenhower intends to stage the breakthrough along his 450 mile front. Perhaps he doesn't know himself, although he has a shrewd idea. Naturally he will develop the most feasible spot.

Antwerp Mainstay

That could be on the southern flank, where the American Third Army under Patton, and the American Seventh under Patch, are operating. It could be up north in that hotly debated Aachen sector which leads to Cologne and Germany's all-important industrial Ruhr region. It could be on the extreme northern wing where the British ostensibly are set to outflank the Nazi battleline and sweep into the Ruhr and on to Berlin over wide-open spaces.

All things considered, observers rather expect the main Allied attack to come on the north. A highly important reason is that the great port of Antwerp lies directly behind that northern front. One of Eisenhower's pressing problems is to maintain the vast stream or supplies necessary for a grand offensive. Antwerp is likely to be his mainstay.

Ben Ludlow Will Address Bond Group

Ben Ludlow, of Philadelphia, former chairman of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, will be the speaker at the Adams County War Finance Committee dinner-meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg Friday evening at 6 o'clock, Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, announced today.

Local Soldiers On Italian Front

(Special to The Times)

With the Fifth Army, Italy (By Mail)—Captain Paul L. Miller, 47 Chambersburg street, Gettysburg, and Cpl. Clifford Sorile, Gettysburg R. 5, are members of the 698th Field Artillery Battalion, whose big guns recently fired the first shells into the Po Valley of Italy for Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's Fifth army.

Operating six 240-millimeter howitzers and two eight-inch guns, the battalion has been knocking out bridges, pillboxes, enemy guns and entire towns at extreme ranges throughout the Italian campaign.

Operating as "Artillery Reconnaissance," a specially organized force, the battalion achieved unique success in observation of long-range fire, innovating a system of fire control depending on high-performance military aircraft. In these operations the 698th destroyed 20 bridges and knocked out or damaged 72 enemy guns.

QUALIFIES AS SHARPSHOOTER

Private William C. Snyder, trainee of C. Company, 174th Infantry replacement Training Battalion, Camp Hood, Texas, qualified as sharpshooter with the Army's M-1 Rifle according to Lieutenant Colonel Earl W. Hunting, Battalion Commander. The course consisted of firing at 200, 300 and 500 yards in both slow and sustained fire.

Private Snyder, who is now in his seventh week of Infantry Training, has also fired the .30 calibre carbine, the Anti-tank Rocket Launcher (Bazooka), and Rifle Grenades. He has thrown Hand Grenades under simulated combat conditions and later in his training he will fire the Light Machine Gun, the 60mm Mortar, and the Browning Automatic Rifle, all under simulated combat conditions

Pvt. Snyder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Spencer Snyder of York Springs.

CAPTURE NAZIS IN OIL DRUMS

Philadelphia, Nov. 13 (AP)—Two German prisoners of war who escaped from a Nebraska prison camp last July in an effort to return to Germany to fight for "Hitler, our leader," were in federal custody today after being discovered aboard the Spanish merchant ship Castilla Ampudia at a south Philadelphia pier.

FBI agents announced their capture last night after an intensive search which finally revealed them hiding in empty oil drums. Customs guards instituted the search, aided by the Volunteer Port Security Force after the ship's carpenter reported that he had seen two strangers sneak aboard.

The men, who escaped the Scotts Bluff, Neb., prisoner of war camp July 11, were identified as Karl Tomola, 46, an infantryman, and Wolfgang Kurzer, 22, bomber co-pilot.

John F. Sears, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said the men denied that any member of the ship's crew had helped them.

Sears said that the pair told him they had worked on Canadian farms for several weeks after their escape and then crossed the border at Rouse's Point, N. Y. They arrived in New York city last week, they said, and came here when they learned that Spanish and Portuguese ships operated out of Philadelphia.

Lt. B. M. Bailey Killed In Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Bailey, Millersburg, have received word that their son, Second Lt. Benjamin M. Bailey, crew member of a Flying Fortress, was killed in a plane crash at Touncester, England, October 11. He is grandson of Charles I. Bushey, York Springs, and the late Luella Wilt Bushey. He is a nephew of the following York Springs residents: Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Starry, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Hetherington and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kennedy.

The 22-year-old flier was inducted into the Army Air Forces at Nashville, Tennessee, April 11, 1943, and trained at Montgomery, Alabama; Avon Park, Florida, and Columbus, Mississippi, where he received his wings and commission. After a 10-day furlough he returned to Avon Park, where he was assigned to the crew of a B-17. He went overseas September 2, arriving in England September 23. He was assigned to Gen. Doolittle's Eighth Air Force.

He was graduated from Millersburg high school in 1940 and entered Pennsylvania State college in the fall of that year.

He is survived by his parents and three brothers, Glenn, Lee and Stanley, all serving overseas with the armed forces and three sisters.

Bicycle Club Rides To Hanover

Sugar Stamp 34 in war ration book four will be good for buying five pounds of sugar beginning November 16, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

(OPA has been validating a sugar stamp—good for five pounds—every two and one-half months since March 16, 1943.)

The stamp, like other sugar stamps now being used, will be good indefinitely for buying sugar. Other stamps, validated in the past, which also are good indefinitely for use in buying sugar are Nos. 30, 31, 32 and 33.

Sugar stamp No. 40, validated February 1, 1944, is good for buying five pounds of sugar for home canning through February 28, 1945.

An amendment to Ration Order 3, officially validating Sugar stamp 34 will be issued soon, OPA said.

TWO RED CROSS MEETINGS HERE

Two meetings to be held within the next week at the local American Red Cross chapter offices on Baltimore street were announced this morning by Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary.

The first will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the nutrition committee when Miss Audrey Hoffpauir, nutrition field representative from the Red Cross eastern area office, will visit the local chapter. Mrs. Bernice Staley, local nutrition chairman has issued a call for all members of her committee to be present. She also has invited all of the home economics teachers and all of the school nurses from the county schools.

Miss Hoffpauir will be at the office during the day to hold meetings with chapter officers and other groups.

A second meeting, next Monday evening, at 7 o'clock, will be the first session in a first aid class to be given during the winter by Mrs. George Boehner. Mrs. Boehner will instruct in a 30-hour course. Although a number of persons already have signed up for the class, it still is open to the public, Miss McMillan said, and any one interested may attend the opening meeting. Dates on which the instruction will be given and times for future meetings will be discussed and decided upon Monday.

PATTON DEALS OPENING BLOW IN RHINE DRIVE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

The way things are developing on the western front it looks as though Uncle Sam's two-gun General Patton again has been assigned one of those tough pioneering jobs which he does so well—this time to strike the real opening blow of the all-out Allied offensive against the Rhine defenses.

This isn't to say that Patton necessarily has been chosen as spear-head of the big drive. That will be decided later in accordance with developments, and it may be that his task will be to run interference for another army which is carrying the ball.

However, the American Third Army's thus for successful offensive in the highly strategic Metz sector bears the earmarks of being the curtain raiser.

Superior Power

Patton's thrust about both sides of the powerful Metz fortifications towards the great Saar valley industrial region strikes me as being the first of several attacks which we may expect to be mounted along the extended Allied front at intervals. If this is what's under way we shall have a fresh demonstration of tactics which have served the world's generals for centuries.

The idea is that you hit your enemy a hard blow at an important point. Then when he withdraws forces from another sector to reinforce the spot attacked, why you slam him in the zone just weakened. If he calls on some other spot for help, you hit him there as well. Fnally when one of these enemy refenses begins to cave, you pile in heavy reinforcements and give him the works in an effort to break through there.

Of course the success of these tactics on the western front depend on the Allies having vastly superior striking power, and fortunately we do have this in all categories. However, we shouldn't delude ourselves that this advantage will make things easy, because the Hitlerites are making a grim last-ditch stand, and while they're woefully weak in man-power and in all other departments, they do have the advantage of the strong Siegfried and Rhine fortifications.

Nazis Worried

Don't the Hitlerites know what's happening to them? Sure they do, but they haven't sufficient strength to stage counter drives to keep Eisenhower off balance. They've got to depend largely on the Siegfried line and that wide, swift river which in itself is a most formidable barrier.

The Boche know what's cooking all right, as witness that remarkable proclamation in Hitler's name, calling on the German people to fight on to the death—to defend the country "house to house and street to street." Meanwhile all Europe is wondering where Hitler is—whether he's dead or ill or whether that abnormal brain of his finally has gone mad.

What the Nazis don't know is where Eisenhower intends to stage the breakthrough along his 450 mile front. Perhaps he doesn't know himself, although he has a shrewd idea. Naturally he will develop the most feasible spot.

Antwerp Mainstay

That could be on the southern flank, where the American Third Army under Patton, and the American Seventh under Patch, are operating. It could be up north in that hotly debated Aachen sector which leads to Cologne and Germany's all-important industrial Ruhr region. It could be on the extreme northern wing where the British ostensibly are set to outflank the Nazi battle-line and sweep into the Ruhr and on to Berlin over wide-open spaces.

All things considered, observers rather expect the main Allied attack to come on the north. A highly important reason is that the great port of Antwerp lies directly behind that northern front One of Eisenhower's pressing problems is to maintain the vast stream or supplies necessary for a grand offensive. Antwerp is likely to be his mainstay.

Ben Ludlow Will Address Bond Group

Ben Ludlow, of Philadelphia, former chairman of the Pennsylvania War Finance Committee, will be the speaker at the Adams County War Finance Committee dinner-meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg Friday evening at 6 o'clock, Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, announced today.

Local Soldiers On Italian Front

(Special to The Times)

With the Fifth Army, Italy (By Mail)—Captain Paul L. Miller, 47 Chambersburg street, Gettysburg, and Cpl. Clifford Sorile, Gettysburg R. 5, are members of the 698th Field Artillery Battalion, whose big guns recently fired the first shells into the Po Valley of Italy for Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's Fifth army.

Operating six 240-millimeter howitzers and two eight-inch guns, the battalion has been knocking out bridges, pillboxes, enemy guns and entire towns at extreme ranges throughout the Italian campaign.

Operating as "Artillery Reconnaissance," a specially organized force, the battalion achieved unique success in observation of long-range fire, innovating a system of fire control depending on high-performance military aircraft. In these operations the 698th destroyed 20 bridges and knocked out or damaged 72 enemy guns.

QUALIFIES AS SHARPSHOOTER

Private William C. Snyder, trainee of C. Company, 174th Infantry replacement Training Battalion, Camp Hood, Texas, qualified as sharpshooter with the Army's M-1 Rifle according to Lieutenant Colonel Earl W. Hunting, Battalion Commander. The course consisted of firing at 200, 300 and 500 yards in both slow and sustained fire.

Private Snyder, who is now in his seventh week of Infantry Training, has also fired the .30 calibre carbine, the Anti-tank Rocket Launcher (Bazooka), and Rifle Grenades. He has thrown Hand Grenades under simulated combat conditions and later in his training he will fire the Light Machine Gun, the 60mm Mortar, and the Browning Automatic Rifle, all under simulated combat conditions

Pvt. Snyder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Spencer Snyder of York Springs.

CAPTURE NAZIS IN OIL DRUMS

Philadelphia, Nov. 13 (AP)—Two German prisoners of war who escaped from a Nebraska prison camp last July in an effort to return to Germany to fight for "Hitler, our leader," were in federal custody today after being discovered aboard the Spanish merchant ship Castilla Ampudia at a south Philadelphia pier.

FBI agents announced their capture last night after an intensive search which finally revealed them hiding in empty oil drums. Customs guards instituted the search, aided by the Volunteer Port Security Force after the ship's carpenter reported that he had seen two strangers sneak aboard.

The men, who escaped the Scotts Bluff, Neb., prisoner of war camp July 11, were identified as Karl Tomola, 46, an infantryman, and Wolfgang Kurzer, 22, bomber co-pilot.

John F. Sears, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said the men denied that any member of the ship's crew had helped them.

Sears said that the pair told him they had worked on Canadian farms for several weeks after their escape and then crossed the border at Rouse's Point, N. Y. They arrived in New York city last week, they said, and came here when they learned that Spanish and Portuguese ships operated out of Philadelphia.

Lt. B. M. Bailey Killed In Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Bailey, Millersburg, have received word that their son, Second Lt. Benjamin M. Bailey, crew member of a Flying Fortress, was killed in a plane crash at Touncester, England, October 11. He is grandson of Charles I. Bushey, York Springs, and the late Luella Wilt Bushey. He is a nephew of the following York Springs residents: Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Starry, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Hetherington and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kennedy.

The 22-year-old flier was inducted into the Army Air Forces at Nashville, Tennessee, April 11, 1943, and trained at Montgomery, Alabama; Avon Park, Florida, and Columbus, Mississippi, where he received his wings and commission. After a 10-day furlough he returned to Avon Park, where he was assigned to the crew of a B-17. He went overseas September 2, arriving in England September 23. He was assigned to Gen. Doolittle's Eighth Air Force.

He was graduated from Millersburg high school in 1940 and entered Pennsylvania State college in the fall of that year.

He is survived by his parents and three brothers, Glenn, Lee and Stanley, all serving overseas with the armed forces and three sisters.

$500,000,000 In Xmas Club Funds

Five hundred million dollars will be distributed to about seven million Christmas club members by forty-eight hundred banking and savings institutions and other organizations during Post-War Prosperity Week, starting Monday, November 27, according to an estimate released by Herbert F. Rawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, a corporation.

The total distribution is 20 per cent ahead of last year and represents a high since the year of the bank holiday. The average per-member distribution increased to approximately $70 as compared with $56 last year. This average check amount represents an all-time record in the 34 years of Christmas Club operation.

Pennsylvania banks will pay out $57,000,000, it was announced.

Adams county banks are expected to announce their Christmas club amounts sometime next week.

New Sugar Stamp Valid Thursday

Sugar Stamp 34 in war ration book four will be good for buying five pounds of sugar beginning November 16, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

(OPA has been validating a sugar stamp—good for five pounds—every two and one-half months since March 16, 1943.)

The stamp, like other sugar stamps now being used, will be good indefinitely for buying sugar. Other stamps, validated in the past, which also are good indefinitely for use in buying sugar are Nos. 30, 31, 32 and 33.

Sugar stamp No. 40, validated February 1, 1944, is good for buying five pounds of sugar for home canning through February 28, 1945.

An amendment to Ration Order 3, officially validating Sugar stamp 34 will be issued soon, OPA said.

It was the fifth consecutive win for Coach Eddie Waleski's boys following four straight defeats. The Squires will wind up the home season by opposing the Harrisburg Catholic high eleven next Sunday on the McSherrystown field.

Few Changes By Official Count

Although several minor changes were revealed in the official count of ballots cast in the county in the election last Tuesday, there was no change in the outcome of any of the contests.

The official count revealed errors of from more than 200 down to a few ballots, but the official returns remained essentially the same as the unofficial count announced last Wednesday.

The complete returns were as follows:

President: Roosevelt, 5,470; Dewey 8,314; U. S. Senator—Myers, 5,388; Davis, 8,163; Supreme Court—Jones, 5.406; Hughes, 8,073; Congressman —Gitt, 5,482; Gross, 8,083; State Treasurer—Black, 5,443; Baird, 8,023; Superior Court Judges—Ross, 5,451; Rhodes, 5,295; James, 8,052; Graff, 7,860; State Senator—Zeger, 5,476; Crider, 7,955; Auditor General — Wagner, 5,448; Watkins, 7,995; Assemblyman — Little, 5,282; Worley, 8,289.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Mrs. James Orndorff, Emmitsburg; James Oyler, Gettysburg R. 1; Clair Zepp, Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knox, 334 South Washington street, in the ambulance; Mrs. Charles Darr, York Springs; Mrs. Crosby Hartzell, Water street; Mrs. Glenn Weishaar, 419 South Washington street, and Mrs. Richard Ramsay, 102 Carlisle street, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Mrs. Lott J. McCleaf and infant son, of McKnightstown, and Mrs. Norman Rager and infant twins, Norma Rita and Norman Russell, Jr., 19 Breckenridge street.

TWO RED CROSS MEETINGS HERE

Two meetings to be held within the next week at the local American Red Cross chapter offices on Baltimore street were announced this morning by Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary.

The first will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the nutrition committee when Miss Audrey Hoffpauir, nutrition field representative from the Red Cross eastern area office, will visit the local chapter. Mrs. Bernice Staley, local nutrition chairman has issued a call for all members of her committee to be present. She also has invited all of the home economics teachers and all of the school nurses from the county schools.

Miss Hoffpauir will be at the office during the day to hold meetings with chapter officers and other groups.

A second meeting, next Monday evening, at 7 o'clock, will be the first session in a first aid class to be given during the winter by Mrs. George Boehner. Mrs. Boehner will instruct in a 30-hour course. Although a number of persons already have signed up for the class, it still is open to the public, Miss McMillan said, and any one interested may attend the opening meeting. Dates on which the instruction will be given and times for future meetings will be discussed and decided upon Monday.

Canada's merchant navy now numbers more than 1,500 trained men.

We're out to get Japan!

Let's go America! YOUR 6TH WAR LOAN DRIVE

THERE can be no victory until the final battle is won. There can be no victorious homecomings until the last shot is fired and the last enemy surrenders.

It costs billions of dollars a month to fight Japan. A mountain of new-type equipment is needed for the battle of the Pacific. And that's why the 6th War Loan Drive is just as important—perhaps more important—than any previous war loan drive.

You know all the personal advantages of buying war bonds: $4 back for every $3 you invest in 10 years; security for your future; a fight against dangerous inflation. But over and above these personal interests is the great patriotic need for everyone to get behind the fight to lick Japan. Yes, there's a long, tough war still ahead of us. Our soldiers haven't stopped fighting—DON'T YOU! Buy at least one extra $100 War Bond in the 6th War Loan Drive. Buy more if you possibly can. Remember, the job in the Pacific is still terrific—keep on buying War Bonds until final victory is won!

Just Folks

RARE

He drew no spark from glory's fame;
He caught no notice from the crowd;
There were but few who knew his name,
But all who did, of him were proud.

Not from the purse his gifts were made,
But from the heart—and they are rare!
For all in trouble and afraid
He always had the time to spare.

His was the first tap at the door,
Though late the hour or near or far.
He always had that minute more
Denied to those who busy are.

And so, though simple seemed his place
And fame had failed to watch him climb,
This was his glory and his grace:
He had what friendship needs—the time!

Today's Talk

THAT HEART OF YOURS

The human heart is one of the most remarkable engines known. In the course of an entire year it beats a total of 40,000,000 times. In a single day each ventricle pumps over 10,000 quarts of blood through the blood vessels. Taking 70 beats a minute, the heart performs work equivalent to 140 foot-pounds per minute! Think of this, and bear in mind that it faithfully performs its task for 70 or 80 years and often longer—all by itself.

The ordinary motor in the car that we drive needs constant care and attention. Abuse it and it refuses to do its work efficiently—sometimes not at all. But this human motor keeps going, regardless of the abuse and inattention given it for years and years. But never get the idea that it doesn't respond to care and attention. It's one of the most sensitive organs in the body.

Excitement, anger, joy, sorrow, undue exertion, dissipation and any abuse of the body have their effect upon the heart. Improper food, lack of rest, and worry, all are recorded and have an indirect effect upon that heart of yours.

On the other hand, a quiet and peaceful disposition, an optimistic viewpoint, self-control, clean and careful habits, each is friendly to the heart. And not only does this procedure promise long life, but it assures health and vitality all along the path of life.

Fear and anger have often put an end to the earthly life of the heart. The late William Muldoon a great athletic director, and former champion wrestler, who lived to a fine old age, once stated that it was wonderful how the human body responded to just a little kindness. And this applies to the heart especially, for it is the heart that keeps this remarkable body-frame of ours at work.

As a boy I heard an inspiring lecture by a great scientific man. [illegible] in that illustrated lecture [illegible] stayed with me. He said that it was a man's business to start a soul voyaging toward eternity and that thoughts were deeds—and might become crimes. Which suggests that our thoughts and manner of life have more to do with a healthy heart than anything else. We should have an inward reverence for this body of ours!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "Emptiness."

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Election in Adams County: Our friends of the "Young Guard" came up to the work on Friday week, and gave to our noble candidate a highly respectable vote, increased above that given for Markle in a ratio sufficient to have carried the state, had she been backed by other counties. But so it is—Pennsylvania is joined to her idol, democracy—sacrificing her best and truest interests to a devotion to that idol. The Free Trade candidate (Polk) has received a majority of probably 6,000.

In this county, we gave a majority of 718 to Clay and Frelinghuysen over Polk.

☞ There were six votes polled in the county for the Abolition candidate, Mr. Birney.

* * *

The Deed Is Done! The pure patriot, the talented statesman, the generous and noble-minded Clay has fallen a victim to the vile slanders of his enemies; and JAMES K. POLK, beyond a doubt is the President of the United States. It is an event much to be deplored by every well-wisher of his country—for we feel that the consequences will be disastrous to this Union and its best and highest interests.

Snow: On Saturday last we had the first snow of the season, with a depth of about three inches. Most of it, however, has already disappeared.

On Tuesday there was another fall of snow about four inches deep.

Skating Park: The students of Pennsylvania college were busy last week in converting the meadow west of Stevens Hall into a skating ground, by banking up a footing on the southern line of the meadow. It required a good deal of labor, which was cheerfully gone through with. All that is now needed is a sufficient fall of rain to fill the meadow, and then sufficient cold to freeze it over.

From Mr. McPherson: We have received another brief letter from Mr. McPherson. He expected to sail from Liverpool on the 6th, and hoped to be able to eat Thanksgiving dinner in Gettysburg.

As we go to press we have a telegram from Mr. McPherson announcing his safe arrival at New York Tuesday (November 16). He expects to reach Gettysburg Wednesday evening.

SENATE GROUP WOULD BREAK NAZI INDUSTRY

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three stories on proposals to destroy—and proposals to save — international cartels.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—A Senate committee recommends that the Allies break the back of German big industry.

There are two main reasons for this proposal for a hard peace which would ruin any German hope of again being an industrial leader:

1. To prevent Germany from rearming after this war. Without big steel and chemical plants it couldn't.

2. To destroy Germany's grip on international cartels by which it has bored into other nations' economic and political life.

Kilgore's Committee

The recommendation came from the subcommittee on war mobilization—headed by Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.)—after months' long study of cartels.

An international cartel is an arrangement between private business groups in two or more countries. Through it they can control industry, trade and prices. It means they can operate independently of their own governments.

"The German industrial group," says the committee, "has been the mainstay of the international cartel system. * * *"

Far-Reaching Plan

The committee proposal doesn't mean that Germany should be reduced to an agricultural state. But it would be far-reaching. It says in part:

"A real disarmament program (for Germany) requires not only the dismantling of all direct munitions industries but also the dismantling and removal to the devastated areas of Europe of the primary indirect munitions industries, including the metallurgical (steel) and chemical industries."

The committee, however, is not aiming only at the destruction of cartels with German interests involved. It wants all international cartels eliminated.

Economic Gag

It says in effect that cartels not only gag economic development, free trade and free enterprise but lay the groundwork for war or political control of one country by another. It says:

"A cartel system dominated by American or British interests would produce the same undesirable results as the one exploited by the Germans."

The committee takes such a serious view of the power—past, present and future—of big German cartelists that it recommends punishment for them after this war.

JAPS MERGE NEAR KWANGSI

Chungking, Nov. 13 (AP)—Japanese forces pushing into Kwangsi province from the north and east in a drive to sweep American air power from southeast China appeared today on the verge of a junction which would give the invaders an all-land road from Canton to Manchuria.

A Chinese communique said yesterday that the northerly enemy column had captured Lucheng, 19 miles northwest of Liuchow on the railway leading to Kweichow province.

At the same time another Japanese force was reported to have seized Laipin, 45 miles south of Liuchow, and driven on 20 miles to the north. Still a third enemy column reached the outskirts of Chienkiang, 55 miles southwest of Liuchow on the highway leading to the old provincial capital of Yungning (Nanning).

The situation in Liuchow—once the site of an important U. S. air base—remained uncertain, with the Japanese reporting the city had fallen Friday and the Chinese maintaining yesterday the garrison still was battling the enemy in the suburbs.

Kweilin—capital of Kwangsi province and also a former U. S. air base site 95 miles north of Liuchow—appeared lost. The Chinese high command acknowledged that it had not been in contact with the garrison by radio since Friday—the day the Japanese reported capture of the city.

PLAN MEMORIAL

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP)—A memorial will be dedicated by the United Mine Workers of America at Liberty next Sunday for the late Sgt. Archibald Mathies, first member of the union to win the Congressional medal of honor. Among the principal speakers will be Brig. Gen. R. M. Vail, adjutant general of the Pennsylvania State Guard.

The Ifugao rice terraces of northern Luzon in the Philippines are considered one of the great engineering feats of the world.

BOY SURVIVES 8 DAYS IN TOOL BOX

Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 13 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy was recuperating in Seaside hospital today after his release yesterday from a 12-inch-wide tool compartment of an abandoned auto trailer in which he had been imprisoned eight days.

The boy, David Bourbonnais, was suffering from exposure, hunger and shock and his weight had been reduced from 70 pounds to approximately 35 pounds. However, a Navy physician reported that considering the experience his condition was surprisingly good.

A. B. Pearson, a juvenile officer, said David related that a "big boy," whose name the victim did not know, slammed the door of the tool compartment shut on him last Nov. 5. David said he had climbed inside to retrieve a jacket which he said the other boy had thrown in after an argument.

"I slept most of the time," David, who had been the object of a city-wide search, told officers. "And when I'd hear someone walking by, I'd pound and kick on the door, hoping they'd hear me. None of them did until that man found me this morning (Sunday)."

An unidentified man, police said, heard weak outcries from the box and released him.

SEE FIGHT IN CONGRESS ON TAX "FREEZE"

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—The eve of the convening of the final session of the 78th Congress found a sharp fight shaping up today over "freezing" of social security taxes.

Unless Congress intervenes, the payroll tax on both employes and employers automatically increases from one per cent to two percent on January 1.

Legislation to retain the tax at its present level, as was done last year, is pending before the House Ways and Means committee, and is being pushed also in the Senate by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich).

Other matters awaiting congressional action include:

On Session's Calendar

A postwar highway construction program involving the expenditure of $1,475,250,000 of federal funds.

Renewal of the federal crop insurance program, to which both major political parties committed themselves in their platforms.

A flood control and rivers and harbors improvement bill, which may be sidetracked because of disagreements in the Senate.

Extension of the statute of limitations applicable to prosecutions or courts-martial resulting from the attack on Pearl Harbor; the current extension expires on December 7.

Little controversy is expected on the bill to continue, probably for another year, the miscellaneous emergency powers given the President in the second war powers act of 1942.

May Approve Monetary Plans

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—An indication that the international business conference may give some measure of approval to the monetary proposals adopted at Bretton Woods last July was given today as delegates resumed their discussions of post war trade problems after a Sunday recess.

It was learned from an authoritative source that the American delegation will put before the conference a recommendation that the Bretton Woods agreements for an international monetary fund and a world reconstruction bank be given "careful consideration" in any discussion of post war currency problems.

One of the main subjects being considered by this conference of some 300 business men from 52 nations is that of currency relations among nations, and the United States representative on the currency panel is Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank of New York.

HELD IN DEATH

Tarentum, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—A 15-year-old Tarentum youth was in custody of county detectives today in connection with the accidental shooting of a hunter, Walter F. Kindler, 25, also of Tarentum, whose body was found Saturday in Frazer township. Detectives sought to determine if a bullet found in the man's chest came from the youth's or Kindler's gun.

REDS SQUEEZE NAZI TROOPS AT BUDAPEST

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Red Army, already in the southern outskirts of Budapest, increased its pressure on the besieged Danube river capital today with the capture of Monor, 14 miles to the southeast, and the seizure of enemy positions within 30 miles to the east.

A broadcast Moscow communique announced the fall of Monor, which meant the Russians had swept the Germans from nearly all of the 50-mile Budapest-Szolnok trunk railway.

Dispatches from Moscow said today that furious counterattacks by German and Hungarian troops failed to dislodge Soviet spearheads from their positions in the southern suburbs of Budapest.

Storm Skoplje

Meanwhile a communique from Marshal Tito's headquarters said his troops were storming Skoplje, a city of 65,000 in southern Yugoslavia on the Belgrade-Athens railway, and an important German position protecting the southern corridor through which some of the 100,000 enemy troops threatened with entrapment have been fleeing from the southern Balkans.

Both broadcasts and the Tito bulletin asserted that large numbers of Russian troops were surging across the Danube river near Apatin in northern Yugoslavia, moving westward to flank the Hungarian capital and also to head off the German retreat from the south.

A Soviet column that pushed northwest of Ujszasz captured the rail station of Boldoghaza in a six-mile march along the railway to Jaszbereny, the last major Axis bastion guarding Budapest from the east.

2nd National Air Clinic Will Open

Oklahoma City, Nov. 13 (AP)—A pattern for postwar expansion of civilian aviation will be formulated at the second national aviation clinic opening Wednesday.

Leaders from every phase of the industry have sent in reservations for the clinic which will feature addresses by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, and top-ranking aviation leaders.

During the four-day meeting, problems of governmental regulations, the personal airplane, airport and traffic control, travel and trade by air, and training and education in the sciences and arts of the air will be examined.

William L. Anderson, director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics commission, upon arrival here, said in an interview he believed state aviation officials will be able to submit a uniform program of state laws which "will remove the argument for complete federal control of aviation."

Huge Bomb Load Dropped On Nazis

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—German industrial and military targets have been blasted with 638,880 tons of explosives through October 31 by American heavy bombers of the Eighth and Fifteenth Airforces, the U. S. Strategic Airforces in Europe said in a summary of operations yesterday.

Germany itself felt the weight of 330,000 tons.

Since the Eighth Airforce began operations from England in August, 1942, and the Fifteenth from Italy in November, 1943, the fighters and bombers have destroyed 15,210 enemy planes, getting 12,640 in the air and the rest on the ground.

Combined American losses were 5,708 bombers and 2,449 fighters the report said.

ALLIES GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

Rome, Nov. 13 (AP)—Patrols of the Eighth Army, crossing the Ghiaia canal below Ravenna, have moved into a thick pine forest four miles south of the city in an advance of two miles, Allied headquarters announced today.

The advance was made after German troops guarding the southern approaches to the big city on the Adriatic coast withdrew from some of their positions on the canal.

Patrols crossing the canal below Ravenna were able to move well forward in the wooded area without making contact with the enemy.

In the San Stefano area southwest of Ravenna the Germans held to their positions on the north bank of the Ghiaia canal in order to prevent the Eighth Army from bypassing Ravenna and trapping the German troops there.

A stiff fight developed when Allied units attacked German outposts on the north bank.

The Allied communique said "further progress" has been made northwest of Forli despite "very strong resistance." Elsewhere "there is no change in our forward positions," the communique added.

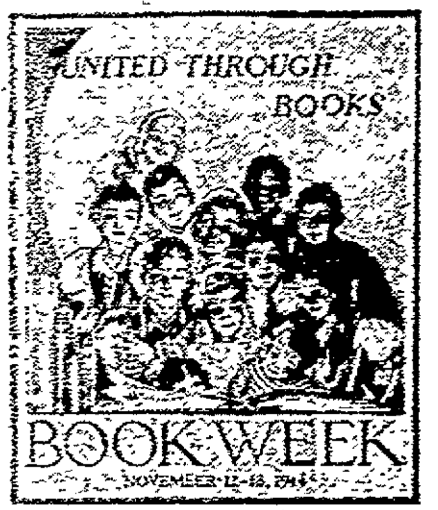
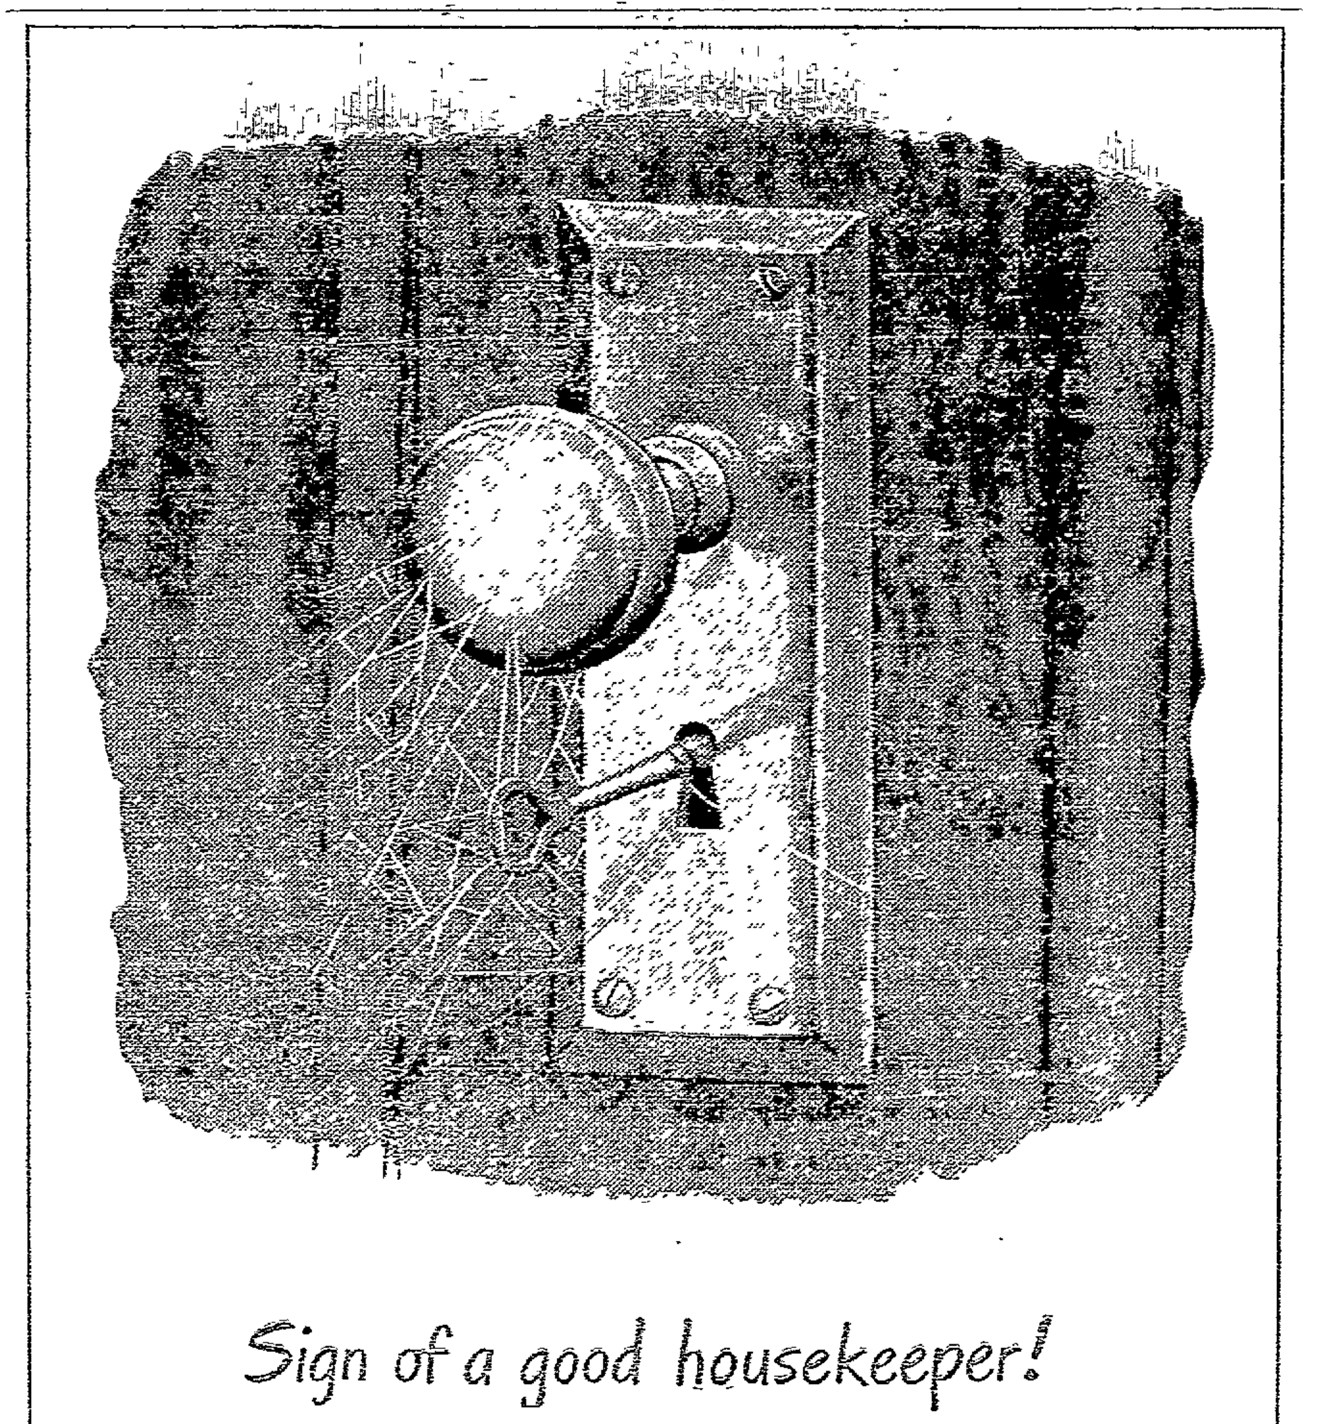
BOOK WEEK AIMS AT UNITY



The better world of the Four Freedoms must be built from the ground up, leaders of National Book Week, November 12-18, feel. In sponsoring this year's theme "United Through Books," they are featuring children's books which will build a solid foundation of understanding among children of all nations, creeds and races for books are the open doors to the knowledge and understanding on which alone freedom and democracy can endure.

Many national organizations such as the Parent-Teachers' Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, National Recreation Association, Pearl Buck's East & West Association, and many others are participating, with national headquarters at 62 West 45th Street, New York 19, N. Y. The United States Office of Education and the American Library Association are enthusiastic sponsors.

Library, school and bookstore hold open house during Book Week with many colorful exhibits and delightful programs to reward the visitor. Everyone is invited and wide participation will help make our town truly "United Through Books."



Sign of a good housekeeper!

Sure, there's a cobweb on that door. In a moment it will be gone with a flick of the duster. But right now, it's a sign of good housekeeping, for it shows that an unused bedroom has been closed off to save heat.

There's going to be some shortage of coal delivered to homes this winter. This isn't because less coal is being produced. More coal is being mined this year than last. Mine owners and miners alike are doing a splendid job. And there are ample rail facilities for transporting coal.

But certain grades and sizes of coal are needed for war production. And, in addition, your local coal dealer is suffering from a shortage of manpower, trucks and tires. So be patient with him and make the coal you get go as far as possible.

Be sure your heating system is clean and in good shape. Fire carefully. Pull your shades and draw the drapes at night. Close off unused bedrooms. For other suggestions see your coal dealer.

One of the biggest jobs of the C&O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem and to know how essential coal is these days.

Just Folks

RARE

He drew no spark from glory's fame;
He caught no notice from the crowd;
There were but few who knew his name,
But all who did, of him were proud.

Not from the purse his gifts were made,
But from the heart—and they are rare!
For all in trouble and afraid
He always had the time to spare.

His was the first tap at the door,
Though late the hour or near or far.
He always had that minute more
Denied to those who busy are.

And so, though simple seemed his place
And fame had failed to watch him climb,
This was his glory and his grace:
He had what friendship needs—the time!

Today's Talk

THAT HEART OF YOURS

The human heart is one of the most remarkable engines known. In the course of an entire year it beats a total of 40,000,000 times. In a single day each ventricle pumps over 10,000 quarts of blood through the blood vessels. Taking 70 beats a minute, the heart performs work equivalent to 140 foot-pounds per minute! Think of this, and bear in mind that it faithfully performs its task for 70 or 80 years and often longer—all by itself.

The ordinary motor in the car that we drive needs constant care and attention. Abuse it and it refuses to do its work efficiently—sometimes not at all. But this human motor keeps going, regardless of the abuse and inattention given it for years and years. But never get the idea that it doesn't respond to care and attention. It's one of the most sensitive organs in the body.

Excitement, anger, joy, sorrow, undue exertion, dissipation and any abuse of the body have their effect upon the heart. Improper food, lack of rest, and worry, all are recorded and have an indirect effect upon that heart of yours.

On the other hand, a quiet and peaceful disposition, an optimistic viewpoint, self-control, clean and careful habits, each is friendly to the heart. And not only does this procedure promise long life, but it assures health and vitality all along the path of life.

Fear and anger have often put an end to the earthly life of the heart. The late William Muldoon a great athletic director, and former champion wrestler, who lived to a fine old age, once stated that it was wonderful how the human body responded to just a little kindness. And this applies to the heart especially, for it is the heart that keeps this remarkable body-engine of ours at work.

As a boy I heard an inspiring lecture by a great scientific man. Words he uttered in that illustrated talk have stayed with me. He said that it was serious business to start a soul voyaging toward eternity, and that thoughts were deeds—and might become crimes. Which suggests that our thoughts and manner of life have more to do with a healthy heart than anything else. We should have an inward reverence for this body of ours!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Emptiness"

Out Of The Past

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Election in Adams County: Our friends of the "Young Guard" came up to the work on Friday week, and gave to our noble candidate a highly respectable vote, increased above that given for Markle in a ratio sufficient to have carried the state, had she been backed by other counties. But so it is—Pennsylvania is joined to her idol, democracy—sacrificing her best and truest interests to a devotion to that idol. The Free Trade candidate (Polk) has received a majority of probably 6,000.

In this county, we gave a majority of 718 to Clay and Frelinghuysen over Polk.

☞ There were six votes polled in the county for the Abolition candidate, Mr. Birney.

* * *

The Deed Is Done! The pure patriot, the talented statesman, the generous and noble-minded Clay has fallen a victim to the vile slanders of his enemies; and JAMES K. POLK, beyond a doubt is the President of the United States. It is an event much to be deplored by every well-wisher of his country—for we feel that the consequences will be disastrous to this Union and its best and highest interests.

SENATE GROUP WOULD BREAK NAZI INDUSTRY

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three stories on proposals to destroy—and proposals to save — international cartels.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—A Senate committee recommends that the Allies break the back of German big industry.

There are two main reasons for this proposal for a hard peace which would ruin any German hope of again being an industrial leader:

1. To prevent Germany from rearming after this war. Without big steel and chemical plants it couldn't.

2. To destroy Germany's grip on international cartels by which it has bored into other nations' economic and political life.

Kilgore's Committee

The recommendation came from the subcommittee on war mobilization—headed by Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.)—after months' long study of cartels.

An international cartel is an arrangement between private business groups in two or more countries. Through it they can control industry, trade and prices. It means they can operate independently of their own governments.

"The German industrial group," says the committee, "has been the mainstay of the international cartel system. * * *"

Far-Reaching Plan

The committee proposal doesn't mean that Germany should be reduced to an agricultural state. But it would be far-reaching. It says in part:

"A real disarmament program (for Germany) requires not only the dismantling of all direct munitions industries but also the dismantling and removal to the devastated areas of Europe of the primary indirect munitions industries, including the metallurgical (steel) and chemical industries."

The committee, however, is not aiming only at the destruction of cartels with German interests involved. It wants all international cartels eliminated.

Economic Gag

It says in effect that cartels not only gag economic development, free trade and free enterprise but lay the groundwork for war or political control of one country by another. It says:

"A cartel system dominated by American or British interests would produce the same undesirable results as the one exploited by the Germans."

The committee takes such a serious view of the power—past, present and future—of big German cartelists that it recommends punishment for them after this war.

JAPS MERGE NEAR KWANGSI

Chungking, Nov. 13 (AP)—Japanese forces pushing into Kwangsi province from the north and east in a drive to sweep American air power from southeast China appeared today on the verge of a junction which would give the invaders an all-land road from Canton to Manchuria.

A Chinese communique said yesterday that the northerly enemy column had captured Liucheng, 19 miles northwest of Liuchow on the railway leading to Kweichow province.

At the same time another Japanese force was reported to have seized Laipin, 45 miles south of Liuchow, and driven on 20 miles to the north. Still a third enemy column reached the outskirts of Chienkiang, 55 miles southwest of Liuchow on the highway leading to the old provincial capital of Yungning (Nanning).

The situation in Liuchow—once the site of an important U. S. air base—remained uncertain, with the Japanese reporting the city had fallen Friday and the Chinese maintaining yesterday the garrison still was battling the enemy in the suburbs.

Kweilin—capital of Kwangsi province and also a former U. S. air base site 95 miles north of Liuchow—appeared lost. The Chinese high command acknowledged that it had not been in contact with the garrison by radio since Friday—the day the Japanese reported capture of the city.

Archibald Mathies, first member of the union to win the Congressional medal of honor. Among the principal speakers will be Brig. Gen. R. M. Vail, adjutant general of the Pennsylvania State Guard.

The Ifugao rice terraces of northern Luzon in the Philippines are considered one of the great engineering feats of the world.

BOY SURVIVES 8 DAYS IN TOOL BOX

Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 13 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy was recuperating in Seaside hospital today after his release yesterday from a 12-inch-wide tool compartment of an abandoned auto trailer in which he had been imprisoned eight days.

The boy, David Bourbonnais, was suffering from exposure, hunger and shock and his weight had been reduced from 70 pounds to approximately 35 pounds. However, a Navy physician reported that considering the experience his condition was surprisingly good.

A. B. Pearson, a juvenile officer, said David related that a "big boy," whose name the victim did not know, slammed the door of the tool compartment shut on him last Nov. 5. David said he had climbed inside to retrieve a jacket which he said the other boy had thrown in after an argument.

"I slept most of the time," David, who had been the object of a city-wide search, told officers. "And when I'd hear someone walking by, I'd pound and kick on the door, hoping they'd hear me. None of them did until that man found me this morning (Sunday)."

An unidentified man, police said, heard weak outcries from the boy and released him.

SEE FIGHT IN CONGRESS ON TAX "FREEZE"

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—The eve of the convening of the final session of the 78th Congress found a sharp fight shaping up today over "freezing" of social security taxes.

Unless Congress intervenes, the payroll tax on both employes and employers automatically increases from one per cent to two percent on January 1.

Legislation to retain the tax at its present level, as was done last year, is pending before the House Ways and Means committee, and is being pushed also in the Senate by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich).

Other matters awaiting congressional action include:

On Session's Calendar

A postwar highway construction program involving the expenditure of $1,475,250,000 of federal funds.

Renewal of the federal crop insurance program, to which both major political parties committed themselves in their platforms.

A flood control and rivers and harbors improvement bill, which may be sidetracked because of disagreements in the Senate.

Extension of the statute of limitations applicable to prosecutions or courts-martial resulting from the attack on Pearl Harbor; the current extension expires on December 7.

Little controversy is expected on the bill to continue, probably for another year, the miscellaneous emergency powers given the President in the second war powers act of 1942.

May Approve Monetary Plans

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—An indication that the international business conference may give some measure of approval to the monetary proposals adopted at Bretton Woods last July was given today as delegates resumed their discussions of post war trade problems after a Sunday recess.

It was learned from an authoritative source that the American delegation will put before the conference a recommendation that the Bretton Woods agreements for an international monetary fund and a world reconstruction bank be given "careful consideration" in any discussion of post war currency problems.

One of the main subjects being considered by this conference of some 300 business men from 52 nations is that of currency relations among nations, and the United States representative on the currency panel is Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank of New York.

HELD IN DEATH

Tarentum, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—A 15-year-old Tarentum youth was in custody of county detectives today in connection with the accidental shooting of a hunter, Walter F. Kindler, 25, also of Tarentum, whose body was found Saturday in Frazier township. Detectives sought to determine if a bullet found in the man's chest came from the youth's or Kindler's gun.

REDS SQUEEZE NAZI TROOPS AT BUDAPEST

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Red Army, already in the southern outskirts of Budapest, increased its pressure on the besieged Danube river capital today with the capture of Monor, 14 miles to the southeast, and the seizure of enemy positions within 30 miles to the east.

A broadcast Moscow communique announced the fall of Monor, which meant the Russians had swept the Germans from nearly all of the 50-mile Budapest-Sznolnok trunk railway.

Dispatches from Moscow said today that furious counterattacks by German and Hungarian troops failed to dislodge Soviet spearheads from their positions in the southern suburbs of Budapest.

Storm Skoplje

Meanwhile a communique from Marshal Tito's headquarters said his troops were storming Skoplje, a city of 65,000 in southern Yugoslavia on the Belgrade-Athens railway, and an important German position protecting the southern corridor through which some of the 100,000 enemy troops threatened with entrapment have been fleeing from the southern Balkans.

Both broadcasts and the Tito bulletin asserted that large numbers of Russian troops were surging across the Danube river near Apatin in northern Yugoslavia, moving westward to flank the Hungarian capital and also to head off the German retreat from the south.

A Soviet column that pushed northwest of Ujszasz captured the rail station of Boldoghaza in a six-mile march along the railway to Jaszbereny, the last major Axis bastion guarding Budapest from the east.

Sign of a good housekeeper!

SURE, there's a cobweb on that door. In a moment it will be gone with a flick of the duster. But right now, it's a sign of good housekeeping, for it shows that an unused bedroom has been closed off to save heat.

There's going to be some shortage of coal delivered to homes this winter. This isn't because less coal is being produced. More coal is being mined this year than last. Mine owners and miners alike are doing a splendid job. And there are ample rail facilities for transporting coal.

But certain grades and sizes of coal are needed for war production. And, in addition, your local coal dealer is suffering from a shortage of manpower, trucks and tires. So be patient with him and make the coal you get go as far as possible.

Be sure your heating system is clean and in good shape. Fire carefully. Pull your shades and draw the drapes at night. Close off unused bedrooms. For other suggestions see your coal dealer.

One of the biggest jobs of the C&O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem and to know how essential coal is these days.

Just Folks

RARE

He drew no spark from glory's fame;
He caught no notice from the crowd;
There were but few who knew his name,
But all who did, of him were proud.

Not from the purse his gifts were made,
But from the heart—and they are rare!
For all in trouble and afraid
He always had the time to spare.

His was the first tap at the door,
Though late the hour or near or far.
He always had that minute more
Denied to those who busy are.

And so, though simple seemed his place
And fame had failed to watch him climb,
This was his glory and his grace:
He had what friendship needs—the time!

Today's Talk

THAT HEART OF YOURS

The human heart is one of the most remarkable engines known. In the course of an entire year it beats a total of 40,000,000 times. In a single day each ventricle pumps over 10,000 quarts of blood through the blood vessels. Taking 70 beats a minute, the heart performs work equivalent to 140 foot-pounds per minute! Think of this, and bear in mind that it faithfully performs its task for 70 or 80 years and often longer—all by itself.

The ordinary motor in the car that we drive needs constant care and attention. Abuse it and it refuses to do its work efficiently—sometimes not at all. But this human motor keeps going, regardless of the abuse and inattention given it for years and years. But never get the idea that it doesn't respond to care and attention. It's one of the most sensitive organs in the body.

Excitement, anger, joy, sorrow, undue exertion, dissipation and any abuse of the body have their effect upon the heart. Improper food, lack of rest, and worry, all are recorded and have an indirect effect upon that heart of yours.

On the other hand, a quiet and peaceful disposition, an optimistic viewpoint, self-control, clean and careful habits, each is friendly to the heart. And not only does this procedure promise long life, but it assures health and vitality all along the path of life.

Fear and anger have often put an end to the earthly life of the heart. The late William Muldoon a great athletic director, and former champion wrestler, who lived to a fine old age, once stated that it was wonderful how the human body responded to just a little kindness. And this applies to the heart especially, for it is the heart that keeps this remarkable body-engine of ours at work.

As a boy I heard an inspiring lecture by a great scientific man. Words he uttered in that illustrated talk have stayed with me. He said that it was serious business to start a soul voyaging toward eternity, and that thoughts were deeds—and might become crimes. Which suggests that our thoughts and manner of life have more to do with a healthy heart than anything else. We should have an inward reverence for this body of ours!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Emptiness"

Out Of The Past

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Election in Adams County: Our friends of the "Young Guard" came up to the work on Friday week, and gave to our noble candidate a highly respectable vote, increased above that given for Markle in a ratio sufficient to have carried the state, had she been backed by other counties. But so it is—Pennsylvania is joined to her idol, democracy—sacrificing her best and truest interests to a devotion to that idol. The Free Trade candidate (Polk) has received a majority of probably 6,000.

In this county, we gave a majority of 718 to Clay and Frelinghuysen over Polk.

☞ There were six votes polled in the county for the Abolition candidate, Mr. Birney.

* * *

The Deed Is Done! The pure patriot, the talented statesman, the generous and noble-minded Clay has fallen a victim to the vile slanders of his enemies; and JAMES K. POLK, beyond a doubt is the President of the United States. It is an event much to be deplored by every well-wisher of his country—for we feel that the consequences will be disastrous to this Union and its best and highest interests.

On Tuesday there was another fall of snow about four inches deep.

Skating Park: The students of Pennsylvania college were busy last week in converting the meadow west of Stevens Hall into a skating ground, by banking up a footing on the southern line of the weadow. It required a good deal of labor, which was cheerfully gone through with. All that is now needed is a sufficient fall of rain to fill the meadow, and then sufficient cold to freeze it over.

SENATE GROUP WOULD BREAK NAZI INDUSTRY

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three stories on proposals to destroy—and proposals to save — international cartels.)

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—A Senate committee recommends that the Allies break the back of German big industry.

There are two main reasons for this proposal for a hard peace which would ruin any German hope of again being an industrial leader:

1. To prevent Germany from rearming after this war. Without big steel and chemical plants it couldn't.

2. To destroy Germany's grip on international cartels by which it has bored into other nations' economic and political life.

Kilgore's Committee

The recommendation came from the subcommittee on war mobilization—headed by Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.)—after months' long study of cartels.

An international cartel is an arrangement between private business groups in two or more countries. Through it they can control industry, trade and prices. It means they can operate independently of their own governments.

"The German industrial group," says the committee, "has been the mainstay of the international cartel system. * * *"

Far-Reaching Plan

The committee proposal doesn't mean that Germany should be reduced to an agricultural state. But it would be far-reaching. It says in part:

"A real disarmament program (for Germany) requires not only the dismantling of all direct munitions industries but also the dismantling and removal to the devastated areas of Europe of the primary indirect munitions industries, including the metallurgical (steel) and chemical industries."

The committee, however, is not aiming only at the destruction of cartels with German interests involved. It wants all international cartels eliminated.

Economic Gag

It says in effect that cartels not only gag economic development, free trade and free enterprise but lay the groundwork for war or political control of one country by another. It says:

"A cartel system dominated by American or British interests would produce the same undesirable results as the one exploited by the Germans."

The committee takes such a serious view of the power—past, present and future—of big German cartelists that it recommends punishment for them after this war.

JAPS MERGE NEAR KWANGSI

Chungking, Nov. 13 (AP)—Japanese forces pushing into Kwangsi province from the north and east in a drive to sweep American air power from southeast China appeared today on the verge of a junction which would give the invaders an all-land road from Canton to Manchuria.

A Chinese communique said yesterday that the northerly enemy column had captured Liucheng, 19 miles northwest of Liuchow on the railway leading to Kweichow province.

At the same time another Japanese force was reported to have seized Laipin, 45 miles south of Liuchow, and driven on 20 miles to the north. Still a third enemy column reached the outskirts of Chienkiang, 55 miles southwest of Liuchow on the highway leading to the old provincial capital of Yungning (Nanning).

The situation in Liuchow—once the site of an important U. S. air base—remained uncertain, with the Japanese reporting the city had fallen Friday and the Chinese maintaining yesterday the garrison still was battling the enemy in the suburbs.

Kweilin—capital of Kwangsi province and also a former U. S. air base site 95 miles north of Liuchow—appeared lost. The Chinese high command acknowledged that it had not been in contact with the garrison by radio since Friday—the day the Japanese reported capture of the city.

PLAN MEMORIAL

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP)—A memorial will be dedicated by the United Mine Workers of America at Liberty next Sunday for the late Sgt. Archibald Mathies, first member of the union to win the Congressional medal of honor. Among the principal speakers will be Brig. Gen. R. M. Vail, adjutant general of the Pennsylvania State Guard.

The Ifugao rice terraces of northern Luzon in the Philippines are considered one of the great engineering feats of the world.

BOY SURVIVES 8 DAYS IN TOOL BOX

Long Beach, Calif., Nov. 13 (AP)—A nine-year-old boy was recuperating in Seaside hospital today after his release yesterday from a 12-inch-wide tool compartment of an abandoned auto trailer in which he had been imprisoned eight days.

The boy, David Bourbonnais, was suffering from exposure, hunger and shock and his weight had been reduced from 70 pounds to approximately 35 pounds. However, a Navy physician reported that considering the experience his condition was surprisingly good.

A. B. Pearson, a juvenile officer, said David related that a "big boy," whose name the victim did not know, slammed the door of the tool compartment shut on him last Nov. 5. David said he had climbed inside to retrieve a jacket which he said the other boy had thrown in after an argument.

"I slept most of the time," David, who had been the object of a city-wide search, told officers. "And when I'd hear someone walking by, I'd pound and kick on the door, hoping they'd hear me. None of them did until that man found me this morning (Sunday)."

An unidentified man, police said, heard weak outcries from the boy and released him.

SEE FIGHT IN CONGRESS ON TAX "FREEZE"

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—The eve of the convening of the final session of the 78th Congress found a sharp fight shaping up today over "freezing" of social security taxes.

Unless Congress intervenes, the payroll tax on both employes and employers automatically increases from one per cent to two percent on January 1.

Legislation to retain the tax at its present level, as was done last year, is pending before the House Ways and Means committee, and is being pushed also in the Senate by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich).

Other matters awaiting congressional action include:

On Session's Calendar

A postwar highway construction program involving the expenditure of $1,475,250,000 of federal funds.

Renewal of the federal crop insurance program, to which both major political parties committed themselves in their platforms.

A flood control and rivers and harbors improvement bill, which may be sidetracked because of disagreements in the Senate.

Extension of the statute of limitations applicable to prosecutions or courts-martial resulting from the attack on Pearl Harbor; the current extension expires on December 7.

Little controversy is expected on the bill to continue, probably for another year, the miscellaneous emergency powers given the President in the second war powers act of 1942.

May Approve Monetary Plans

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—An indication that the international business conference may give some measure of approval to the monetary proposals adopted at Bretton Woods last July was given today as delegates resumed their discussions of post war trade problems after a Sunday recess.

It was learned from an authoritative source that the American delegation will put before the conference a recommendation that the Bretton Woods agreements for an international monetary fund and a world reconstruction bank be given "careful consideration" in any discussion of post war currency problems.

One of the main subjects being considered by this conference of some 300 business men from 52 nations is that of currency relations among nations, and the United States representative on the currency panel is Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National bank of New York.

HELD IN DEATH

Tarentum, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—A 15-year-old Tarentum youth was in custody of county detectives today in connection with the accidental shooting of a hunter, Walter F. Kindler, 25, also of Tarentum, whose body was found Saturday in Frazier township. Detectives sought to determine if a bullet found in the man's chest came from the youth's or Kindler's gun.

REDS SQUEEZE NAZI TROOPS AT BUDAPEST

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Red Army, already in the southern outskirts of Budapest, increased its pressure on the besieged Danube river capital today with the capture of Monor, 14 miles to the southeast, and the seizure of enemy positions within 30 miles to the east.

A broadcast Moscow communique announced the fall of Monor, which meant the Russians had swept the Germans from nearly all of the 50-mile Budapest-Sznolnok trunk railway.

Dispatches from Moscow said today that furious counterattacks by German and Hungarian troops failed to dislodge Soviet spearheads from their positions in the southern suburbs of Budapest.

Storm Skoplje

Meanwhile a communique from Marshal Tito's headquarters said his troops were storming Skoplje, a city of 65,000 in southern Yugoslavia on the Belgrade-Athens railway, and an important German position protecting the southern corridor through which some of the 100,000 enemy troops threatened with entrapment have been fleeing from the southern Balkans.

Both broadcasts and the Tito bulletin asserted that large numbers of Russian troops were surging across the Danube river near Apatin in northern Yugoslavia, moving westward to flank the Hungarian capital and also to head off the German retreat from the south.

A Soviet column that pushed northwest of Ujszasz captured the rail station of Boldoghaza in a six-mile march along the railway to Jaszbereny, the last major Axis bastion guarding Budapest from the east.

2nd National Air Clinic Will Open

Oklahoma City, Nov. 13 (AP)—A pattern for postwar expansion of civilian aviation will be formulated at the second national aviation clinic opening Wednesday.

Leaders from every phase of the industry have sent in reservations for the clinic which will feature addresses by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces, Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, and top-ranking aviation leaders.

During the four-day meeting, problems of governmental regulations, the personal airplane, airport and traffic control, travel and trade by air, and training and education in the sciences and arts of the air will be examined.

William L. Anderson, director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics commission, upon arrival here, said in an interview he believed state aviation officials will be able to submit a uniform program of state laws which "will remove the argument for complete federal control of aviation."

FATAL CRASH

Huge Bomb Load Dropped On Nazis

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—German industrial and military targets have been blasted with 638,880 tons of explosives through October 31 by American heavy bombers of the Eighth and Fifteenth Airforces, the U. S. Strategic Airforces in Europe said in a summary of operations yesterday.

Germany itself felt the weight of 330,000 tons.

Since the Eighth Airforce began operations from England in August, 1942, and the Fifteenth from Italy in November, 1943, the fighters and bombers have destroyed 15,210 enemy planes, getting 12,640 in the air and the rest on the ground.

Combined American losses were 5,708 bombers and 2,449 fighters, the report said.

ALLIES GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

Rome, Nov. 13 (AP)—Patrols of the Eighth Army, crossing the Ghiaia canal below Ravenna, have moved into a thick pine forest four miles south of the city in an advance of two miles, Allied headquarters announced today.

The advance was made after German troops guarding the southern approaches to the big city on the Adriatic coast withdrew from some of their positions on the canal.

Patrols crossing the canal below Ravenna were able to move well forward in the wooded area without making contact with the enemy.

In the San Stefano area southwest of Ravenna the Germans held to their positions on the north bank of the Ghiaia canal in order to prevent the Eighth Army from bypassing Ravenna and trapping the German troops there.

A stiff fight developed when Allied units attacked German outposts on the north bank.

The Allied communique said "further progress" has been made northwest of Forli despite "very strong resistance." Elsewhere "there is no change in our forward positions," the communique added.

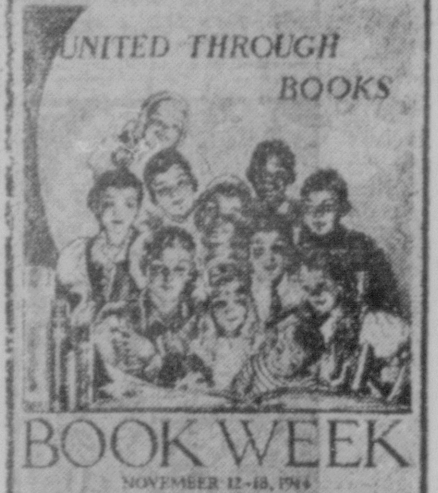
BOOK WEEK AIMS AT UNITY



THE better world of the Four Freedoms must be built from the ground up, leaders of National Book Week, November 12-18, feel. In sponsoring this year's theme "United Through Books," they are featuring children's books which will build a solid foundation of understanding among children of all nations, creeds and races for books are the open doors to the knowledge and understanding on which alone freedom and democracy can endure.

Many national organizations such as the Parent-Teachers' Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, National Recreation Association, Pearl Buck's East & West Association, and many others are participating, with national headquarters at 62 West 45th Street, New York 19, N. Y. The United States Office of Education and the American Library Association are enthusiastic sponsors.

Library, school and bookstore hold open house during Book Week with many colorful exhibits and delightful programs to reward the visitor. Everyone is invited and wide participation will help make our town truly "United Through Books."

Here And There

Robert, spent the night at the Petersen home. Mrs. Lincoln visiting her husband's bedside on several occasions during the night.

The physicians and surgeons maintained close vigil all night. Everything known to medical science at the time was done for the President but the bullet had shattered bones in the head and several of the doctors immediately recognized the wound as fatal.

* * *

Cabinet members and members of the Supreme Court were summoned and all through the night men of high rank in the government entered the Petersen home.

Word spread rapidly through the city and gloom spread over the capital. The country's greatest President was dying. The conspirators had done their work and they were fleeing. Civil police and the military were on the hunt. But the Great Emancipator could not live. He died, a martyr to a noble cause. His name will live forever.

Flashes Of Life

New York (AP)—Wives of sanitation department employes in the borough of Queens wrote to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia to check on their husbands' stories of working overtime.

In his weekly radio talk, the mayor said: "I am sorry to tell you this but I sent for the time sheets and find that your husbands are not working overtime. Therefore, you had better call for them when their day is up."

PEAK IS PAST

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP) — The wartime peak in business has been passed, the University of Pittsburgh's business research bureau reported today in reviewing the index of business since January, 1944.

CARLISLE LAWYER DIES

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—William Alfred Kramer, 82, former district attorney for Cumberland county, and oldest member of the Cumberland County Bar Association, died here yesterday after a long illness. Kramer had been a member of the bar for the past 59 years.

GIRL KILLED

Tarentum, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—Ann Irene Confer, 19, of Brackenridge, was killed yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding struck an embankment in Buffalo township, Butler county. The driver, David B. McCullough, 23, of New Kensington, was treated at Allegheny General hospital for lacerations.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—Manufacturers may take orders for new vacuum cleaners for delivery at whatever price ceiling is in effect when the delivery is made, the Office of Price Administration ruled today.

HITLER REPORTS GAIN CREDENCE AMONG ALLIES

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—Recurring reports that Adolf Hitler is dead or incapacitated gained added weight today in the light of circumstances surrounding a strange broadcast yesterday in which Heinrich Himmler read on the Fuehrer's behalf a proclamatinon calling upon the German people to fight to the death.

The official German explanation was that Hitler was too busy guiding the destinies of the Reich to appear personally before a microphone and read the proclamation, which he was said to have written.

Official British sources, however, which have always been cautious about commenting on Hitler rumors in the past, asserted flatly that the proclamation had a "phoney ring."

Last Heard on July 21

The most widely accepted belief here was that the proclamation, which carried the solemn overtones of a last ditch appeal, was a ghost-written effort by Himmler and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels to curb rumors within Germany of Hitler's serious illness or death.

Germans have not heard a broadcast by Hitler since July 21, when a voice purporting to be his spoke over the radio to announce that a plot against his life the preceding day had been thwarted.

Yesterday's manifesto, sounding every appeal to steel the German will, marked the postponed celebration of the Nov. 8, 1923, Munich beer hall putsch and a mass swearing in of men in the Volkssturm, or German home guard. The Berlin radio called it a "day of national rising."

Employing the use of the first person, the Hitler manifesto reiterated the Nazi bugbears on the menace of "international Jewry" and "Bolshevist barbarisms," and declared:

Threat of Reprisals

"If in these times I speak seldom or little to the German people, this is due to my being at work in order to fulfill the tasks entrusted to me, and which must be fulfilled in order to turn our fortunes."

Those fortunes, the proclamation tacitly admitted, had not been going well for the Germans "since the Russian armies broke through the Romanian front on the Don in November, 1942, since the subsequent disintegration of the Italian and Hungarian formations, with all the severe consequences involved for our strategy.

"Whoever attempts to sow doubts among others, whoever lifts a sword or throws a bomb against Germany, will be mercilessly and ruthlessly destroyed."

It praised Japan as "our greatest ally" and said that country "has viewed the struggle from its first day as what it really is: a decisive clash in which existence itself is at stake."

Chapter 23

Terry scuffed along the deserted deck, desolately, very much as he had done when he first came aboard. It was just like Aunt Julia to keep him hanging about here instead of dashing down to London on the first train. It meant hours and hours of waiting, doing nothing, probably in some old hotel ashore.

He hated saying good-bye to Cherry and Rory. It was going to be horrid. It would be scrummy when Dad and Mother arrived, of course, but just now it was all beastly.

And Cherry was looking so funny and miserable, as if she hated it too.

"Hello, Mischief! Glad to be home?" It was Mister King.

"Oh, rather! Only—" And out came all his troubles. Rory laughed, with his arm about the boy's thin shoulders. "Don't worry, there are plenty of fast trains from London. They'll be here in about four or five hours. I expect."

"Oh, goody!" As an afterthought he added, "Cherry's looking awful miserable, too. You'd better go and cheer her up."

Rory's eyes narrowed. He was looking very tired. He said in an odd, flat voice, "I think we'd better leave that to Uncle Douglas, don't you?"

"But Uncle Douglas went ashore ages ago!" Terry cried, and wondered why Rory suddenly swung around and gripped his shoulder too hard, saying, "Are you sure that he did?"

"Course I'm sure! I heard him saying good-bye to her—and—you're hurting my shouldere, just a bit."

"Sorry, old man. I'll be back." He went away in a tearing hurry. Terry wondered why, and began counting the chimneys within sight.

Rory found her kneeling on the deck, trying to strap a suitcase, through a mist of tears. He said, "May I help you with that?" and she looked up at him, white-faced.

He sobered at that. "Darling, obviously it would be such a good marriage. I didn't think I had a chance. Don't think so now, but —I—"

"You haven't asked me yet," she answered between laughter and tears. He drew her to her feet and held her close, looking down into her face upturned to his. "I'm every sort of a blind fool—and worse than that. Please—Cherry—will you marry me?"

"Of course she will!" said Terry, in a loud voice from the doorway, and they drew apart hurriedly. He went on excitedly, "I've come to say good-by. Mummy and Daddy are down there on the wharf!"

Cherry hugged and kissed him, and Rory shook hands gravely, and when the small jumping figure had disappeared down the alley for the last time he turned back to her. "Was that your answer?"

"But of course," she said simply. "We belong, Rory."

"I think we always have, from that first day when I found you looking at the model. Do you remember?"

They found a lot to remember, sitting side by side on the edge of her berth. It was amazing, when they had only known each other for eight weeks, what a lot there was to remember. It astounded Cherry to realize how Rory had watched for her, wanted her, dreamed about her.

She said smiling, "And to think I was jealous of Julia. I thought you were interested in her—dancing at Panama—taking her to the Waldorf Astoria to parties."

"Good heavens, that woman!" Rory grinned. "I had to go in the Old Man's party at Panama. And in New York—I suppose she didn't tell you I had to attend a Merchant Navy dinner that night and merely dropped her from my taxi at the hotel? She did try to get me in for a drink, but I hadn't time."

After a long time he said seriously, "I shouldn't be doing this, Cherry, however much I love you. A sailor's wife has a hell of a time, especially during the war. Remember what Celia Johnston said in that film, 'In Which We Serve'? That always—always, a sailor's ship is his wife's rival? I love the old Coromandel, Cherry."

"So do I," Cherry said gently. "I love her so much, Rory, that I can promise never to be jealous. I love the sea, too. I'll understand, and be happy, waiting for you. And every voyage you make, my love will go with you both, and bring you safely home to me."

BAD NEWS!

ALONG with all the good news of victories abroad, comes some very bad news here at home.

Fat salvage collections are TAKING A NOSE DIVE in many sections of the country.

* * *

That can mean just one thing! Too many of us are letting the good news GO TO OUR HEADS. Too many believe that, with the collapse of Germany, we can relax.

Don't these people know that the battle of Germany is just one chapter in this global war—and that we still have a long, tough road to travel in the East?

* * *

Even the TOTAL DEFEAT OF GERMANY can't help us one bit as far as the fat situation is concerned. And for a specific reason: IT'S THE JAPS WHO HAVE OUR FATS.

Our fat shortage troubles began when Japan moved into the Pacific areas and cut us off from ONE BILLION POUNDS of fats and oils we used to import every year. The Japs are still there—and we're still cut off!

* * *

So we must continue saving used fats to help make up that loss. To help make the munitions, synthetic rubber, medicines, soaps and other materials needed to finish the war. WE MUST SAVE EVEN HARDER THAN EVER. So let's get busy and send the fat collections climbing up all across America! THE NEED IS SO URGENT, our government gives you 4¢ and 2 free red points for every pound saved!

So KEEP SAVING USED FATS UNTIL V-J DAY—the day when we can celebrate final victory over our last and toughest enemy—Japan.

Robert, spent the night at the Petersen home, Mrs. Lincoln visiting her husband's bedside on several occasions during the night.

The physicians and surgeons maintained close vigil all night. Everything known to medical science at the time was done for the President but the bullet had shattered bones in the head and several of the doctors immediately recognized the wound as fatal.

* * *

Cabinet members and members of the Supreme Court were summoned and all through the night men of high rank in the government entered the Petersen home.

Word spread rapidly through the city and gloom spread over the capital. The country's greatest President was dying. The conspirators had done their work and they were fleeing. Civil police and the military were on the hunt. But the Great Emancipator could not live. He died, a martyr to a noble cause. His name will live forever.

Flashes Of Life

New York (AP)—Wives of sanitation department employes in the borough of Queens wrote to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia to check on their husbands' stories of working overtime.

In his weekly radio talk, the mayor said: "I am sorry to tell you this but I sent for the time sheets and find that your husbands are not working overtime. Therefore, you had better call for them when their day is up."

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13 (AP) — The Third Service Command's stating and assignment center located at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa., has been transferred to Camp Pickett, Va.

PEAK IS PAST

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP) — The wartime peak in business has been passed, the University of Pittsburgh's business research bureau reported today in reviewing the index of business since January, 1944.

CARLISLE LAWYER DIES

Carlisle, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—William Alfred Kramer, 82, former district attorney for Cumberland county, and oldest member of the Cumberland County Bar Association, died here yesterday after a long illness. Kramer had been a member of the bar for the past 59 years.

GIRL KILLED

Tarentum, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—Ann Irene Confer, 19, of Brackenridge, was killed yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding struck an embankment in Buffalo township, Butler county. The driver, David B. McCullough, 23, of New Kensington, was treated at Allegheny General hospital for lacerations.

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—Manufacturers may take orders for new vacuum cleaners for delivery at whatever price ceiling is in effect when the delivery is made, the Office of Price Administration ruled today.

HITLER REPORTS GAIN CREDENCE AMONG ALLIES

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—Recurring reports that Adolf Hitler is dead or incapacitated gained added weight today in the light of circumstances surrounding a strange broadcast yesterday in which Heinrich Himmler read on the Fuehrer's behalf a proclamatinon calling upon the German people to fight to the death.

The official German explanation was that Hitler was too busy guiding the destinies of the Reich to appear personally before a microphone and read the proclamation, which he was said to have written.

Official British sources, however, which have always been cautious about commenting on Hitler rumors in the past, asserted flatly that the proclamation had a "phoney ring."

Last Heard on July 21

The most widely accepted belief here was that the proclamation, which carried the solemn overtones of a last ditch appeal, was a ghost-written effort by Himmler and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels to curb rumors within Germany of Hitler's serious illness or death.

Germans have not heard a broadcast by Hitler since July 21, when a voice purporting to be his spoke over the radio to announce that a plot against his life the preceding day had been thwarted.

Yesterday's manifesto, sounding every appeal to steel the German will, marked the postponed celebration of the Nov. 8, 1923, Munich beer hall putsch and a mass swearing in of men in the Volkssturm, or German home guard. The Berlin radio called it a "day of national rising."

Employing the use of the first person, the Hitler manifesto reiterated the Nazi bugbears on the menace of "international Jewry" and "Bolshevist barbarisms," and declared:

Threat of Reprisals

"If in these times I speak seldom or little to the German people, this is due to my being at work in order to fulfill the tasks entrusted to me, and which must be fulfilled in order to turn our fortunes."

Those fortunes, the proclamation tacitly admitted, had not been going well for the Germans "since the Russian armies broke through the Romanian front on the Don in November, 1942, since the subsequent disintegration of the Italian and Hungarian formations, with all the severe consequences involved for our strategy.

"Whoever attempts to sow doubts among others, whoever lifts a sword or throws a bomb against Germany, will be mercilessly and ruthlessly destroyed."

It praised Japan as "our greatest ally" and said that country "has viewed the struggle from its first day as what it really is; a decisive clash in which existence itself is at stake."

Chapter 28

Terry scuffed along the deserted deck, desolately, very much as he had done when he first came aboard. It was just like Aunt Julia to keep him hanging about here instead of dashing down to London on the first train. It meant hours and hours of waiting, doing nothing, probably in some old hotel ashore.

He hated saying good-bye to Cherry and Rory. It was going to be horrid. It would be scrummy when Dad and Mother arrived, of course, but just now it was all beastly.

And Cherry was looking so funny and miserable, as if she hated it too.

"Hello, Mischief! Glad to be home?" It was Mister King.

"Oh, rather! Only—" And out came all his troubles. Rory laughed, with his arm about the boy's thin shoulders. "Don't worry, there are plenty of fast trains from London. They'll be here in about four or five hours. I expect."

"Oh, goody!" As an afterthought he added, "Cherry's looking awful miserable, too. You'd better go and cheer her up."

Rory's eyes narrowed. He was looking very tired. He said in an odd, flat voice, "I think we'd better leave that to Uncle Douglas, don't you?"

"But Uncle Douglas went ashore ages ago!" Terry cried, and wondered why Rory suddenly swung around and gripped his shoulder too hard, saying, "Are you sure that he did?"

"Course I'm sure! I heard him saying good-bye to her—and—you're hurting my shouldere, just a bit."

"Sorry, old man. I'll be back." He went away in a tearing hurry. Terry wondered why, and began counting the chimneys within sight.

Rory found her kneeling on the deck, trying to strap a suitcase, through a mist of tears. He said, "May I help you with that?" and she looked up at him, white-faced.

He sobered at that. "Darling, obviously it would be such a good marriage. I didn't think I had a chance. Don't think so now, but —I—"

"You haven't asked me yet," she answered between laughter and tears. He drew her to her feet and held her close, looking down into her face upturned to his. "I'm every sort of a blind fool—and worse than that. Please—Cherry—will you marry me?"

"Of course she will!" said Terry, in a loud voice from the doorway, and they drew apart hurriedly. He went on excitedly, "I've come to say good-by. Mummy and Daddy are down there on the wharf!"

Cherry hugged and kissed him, and Rory shook hands gravely, and when the small jumping figure had disappeared down the alley for the last time he turned back to her, "Was that your answer?"

"But of course," she said simply. "We belong, Rory."

"I think we always have, from that first day when I found you looking at the model. Do you remember?"

They found a lot to remember, sitting side by side on the edge of her berth. It was amazing, when they had only known each other for eight weeks, what a lot there was to remember. It astounded Cherry to realize how Rory had watched for her, wanted her, dreamed about her.

She said smiling, "And to think I was jealous of Julia. I thought you were interested in her—dancing at Panama—taking her to the Waldorf Astoria to parties."

"Good heavens, that woman!" Rory grinned. "I had to go in the Old Man's party at Panama. And in New York—I suppose she didn't tell you I had to attend a Merchant Navy dinner that night and merely dropped her from my taxi at the hotel? She did try to get me in for a drink, but I hadn't time."

After a long time he said seriously, "I shouldn't be doing this, Cherry, however much I love you. A sailor's wife has a hell of a time, especially during the war. Remember what Celia Johnston said in that film, 'In Which We Serve'? That always—always, a sailor's ship is his wife's rival? I love the old Coromandel, Cherry."

"So do I," Cherry said gently. "I love her so much, Rory, that I can promise never to be jealous. I love the sea, too. I'll understand, and be happy, waiting for you. And every voyage you make, my love will go with you both, and bring you safely home to me."

BAD NEWS!

ALONG with all the good news of victories abroad, comes some very bad news here at home.

Fat salvage collections are TAKING A NOSE DIVE in many sections of the country.

That can mean just one thing! Too many of us are letting the good news GO TO OUR HEADS. Too many believe that, with the collapse of Germany, we can relax.

Don't these people know that the battle of Germany is just one chapter in this global war—and that we still have a long, tough road to travel in the East?

★ ★ ★

Even the TOTAL DEFEAT OF GERMANY can't help us one bit as far as the fat situation is concerned. And for a specific reason: IT'S THE JAPS WHO HAVE OUR FATS.

Our fat shortage troubles began when Japan moved into the Pacific areas and cut us off from ONE BILLION POUNDS of fats and oils we used to import every year. The Japs are still there—and we're still cut off!

★ ★ ★

So we must continue saving used fats to help make up that loss. To help make the munitions, synthetic rubber, medicines, soaps and other materials needed to finish the war. WE MUST SAVE EVEN HARDER THAN EVER. So let's get busy and send the fat collections climbing up all across America! THE NEED IS SO URGENT, our government gives you 4¢ and 2 free red points for every pound saved!

So KEEP SAVING USED FATS UNTIL V-J DAY—the day when we can celebrate final victory over our last and toughest enemy—Japan.

In memory of Pfc. Joseph M. Byer, USMC who was killed in action November 13th, 1943.

We miss you "Joe" in our little town,
We miss your cheerful face which seldom wore a frown,
We miss your jokes and laughter which always made you great
We are sorry you had to leave us but that is the work of fate.

Your sportsmanship and friendship were always true,
You were always present when there was something to do.
You gave your life for our freedom to come
And we shall never forget that brave deed, well done.

In our hearts you shall remain "dear friend"
Till freedom's bells have rung,
Till the end of time has come.

By Two Friends.

"Oh, rather! Only—" And out came all his troubles. Rory laughed, with his arm about the boy's thin shoulders. "Don't worry, there are plenty of fast trains from London. They'll be here in about four or five hours, I expect."

"Oh, goody!" As an afterthought he added, "Cherry's looking awful miserable, too. You'd better go and cheer her up."

Rory's eyes narrowed. He was looking very tired. He said in an odd, flat voice, "I think we'd better leave that to Uncle Douglas, don't you?"

"But Uncle Douglas went ashore ages ago!" Terry cried, and wondered why Rory suddenly swung around and gripped his shoulder too hard, saying, "Are you sure that he did?"

"Course I'm sure! I heard him saying good-bye to her—and—you're hurting my shouldere, just a bit."

"Sorry, old man. I'll be back." He went away in a tearing hurry. Terry wondered why, and began counting the chimneys within sight.

Rory found her kneeling on the deck, trying to strap a suitcase, through a mist of tears. He said, "May I help you with that?" and she looked up at him, white-faced.

He sobered at that. "Darling, obviously it would be such a good marriage. I didn't think I had a chance. Don't think so now, but —I—"

"You haven't asked me yet," she answered between laughter and tears. He drew her to her feet and held her close, looking down into her face upturned to his. "I'm every sort of a blind fool—and worse than that. Please—Cherry—will you marry me?"

"Of course she will!" said Terry, in a loud voice from the doorway, and they drew apart hurriedly. He went on excitedly, "I've come to say good-by. Mummy and Daddy are down there on the wharf!"

Cherry hugged and kissed him, and Rory shook hands gravely, and when the small jumping figure had disappeared down the alley for the last time he turned back to her, "Was that your answer?"

"But of course," she said simply. "We belong, Rory."

"I think we always have, from that first day when I found you looking at the model. Do you remember?"

They found a lot to remember, sitting side by side on the edge of her berth. It was amazing, when they had only known each other for eight weeks, what a lot there was to remember. It astounded Cherry to realize how Rory had watched for her, wanted her, dreamed about her.

She said smiling, "And to think I was jealous of Julia. I thought you were interested in her—dancing at Panama—taking her to the Waldorf Astoria to parties."

"Good heavens, that woman!" Rory grinned. "I had to go in the Old Man's party at Panama. And in New York—I suppose she didn't tell you I had to attend a Merchant Navy dinner that night and merely dropped her from my taxi at the hotel? She did try to get me in for a drink, but I hadn't time."

After a long time he said seriously, "I shouldn't be doing this, Cherry, however much I love you. A sailor's wife has a hell of a time, especially during the war. Remember what Celia Johnston said in that film, 'In Which We Serve'? That always—always, a sailor's ship is his wife's rival? I love the old Coromandel, Cherry."

"So do I," Cherry said gently. "I love her so much, Rory, that I can promise never to be jealous. I love the sea, too. I'll understand, and be happy, waiting for you. And every voyage you make, my love will go with you both, and bring you safely home to me."

BAD NEWS!

ALONG with all the good news of victories abroad, comes some very bad news here at home.

Fat salvage collections are TAKING A NOSE DIVE in many sections of the country.

* * *

That can mean just one thing! Too many of us are letting the good news GO TO OUR HEADS. Too many believe that, with the collapse of Germany, we can relax.

Don't these people know that the battle of Germany is just one chapter in this global war—and that we still have a long, tough road to travel in the East?

* * *

Even the TOTAL DEFEAT OF GERMANY can't help us one bit as far as the fat situation is concerned. And for a specific reason: IT'S THE JAPS WHO HAVE OUR FATS.

Our fat shortage troubles began when Japan moved into the Pacific areas and cut us off from ONE BILLION POUNDS of fats and oils we used to import every year. The Japs are still there—and we're still cut off!

* * *

So we must continue saving used fats to help make up that loss. To help make the munitions, synthetic rubber, medicines, soaps and other materials needed to finish the war. WE MUST SAVE EVEN HARDER THAN EVER. So let's get busy and send the fat collections climbing up all across America! THE NEED IS SO URGENT, our government gives you 4¢ and 2 free red points for every pound saved!

So KEEP SAVING USED FATS UNTIL V-J DAY—the day when we can celebrate final victory over our last and toughest enemy—Japan.

PENN DEFEATS COLUMBIA AS TEMPLE FALLS

(By The Associated Press)

A 35-7 trouncing calmly administered by a superior University of Pennsylvania football eleven to an outclassed Columbia University aggregation highlighted the state's football week-end.

Penn State scored a close win, 7-6, over the Temple Owls in a game which featured a series of heartbreaking near misses for the Philadelphia team.

At Collegeville, Ursinus college defeated Franklin and Marshall, 2 to 0, in their annual football clash when Tackle Joe Topper blocked an F. and M. punt and the ball rolled out of the end zone.

Lafayette college journeyed to New Brunswick, New Jersey, to defeat Rutgers by a comfortable 39 to 0 score and thereby annex the mythical middle three football title.

Drexel, Bucknell Win

Drexel Tech avenged an earlier defeat by administering a 39-0 drubbing to the visiting Bloomsburg State Teachers' college V-12 football team.

The Muhlenberg college eleven went down, 16 to 6, before a green but aggressive Princeton university football team, opening an informal three-game football season for the latter. The game was played at Princeton.

At Lewisburg Bucknell's Bisons stampeded City College of New York, 78 to 0, and came within a single point of tying their all-time scoring record. An outclassed Lehigh university eleven fell before an overpowering West Virginia team 71 to 0. Ohio State trounced Pitt 54 to 19, and Swarthmore came through to beat New York university 21 to 0 in other state collegiate games.

Toronto Winning Streak Shattered

(By The Associated Press)

Toronto's six - game winning streak in the National Hockey league was rudely shattered by Detroit last night.

Aroused by their unexpected defeat at the hands of the New York Rangers on Saturday, the Red Wings swarmed all over the league leaders for a 4 to 2 triumph before 13,364, the largest turnout of the season at the motor city.

Montreal, beaten for the second time by Toronto on Saturday, climbed back within one game of the top by licking the Chicago Blackhawks, 4 to 2, last night before 16,353 at Chicago. Goalie Bill Durnan did yeoman work in the Montreal goal while Ray Getliffe scored the winning goal on a 40-foot shot in the second period.

Boston's Bruins, apparently facing their fourth defeat, scored three goals within one minute and 35 seconds in the third period to gain a 5-5 tie with the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden.

Churchill Favors Strong French Army

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—Frenchmen had today from Prime Minister Winston Churchill the assurance that Great Britain desires to see France possessed of a powerful army and united under the government of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Speaking in French before a cheering assemblage yesterday in the Hotel De Ville, Churchill said the Germans might be beaten within the next six months.

"We hope as much of the French army as possible will be able to engage in the final battles," he said.

Churchill visualized a powerful and well equipped French army as an aid in re-establishing stability in Europe, and a united France as a help in "protecting us from a repetition of German aggression."

The coastline of Norway, including the greater islands and indentations is about 12,000 miles.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—For the first time in 24 years of basketball coaching at Western Michigan college, Herbert W. Read doesn't have a single veteran on his squad. . . . Last year he started with 14 lettermen and only lost to one collegiate rival. . . While the starting gate is supposed to be a modern device for hoss racing, history shows that the Romans used "starting chambers" as early as 221 B.C. and eventually abandoned them. . . . Since he left the Navy, featherweight champ Willie Pep has won 13 fights. And to double the jinx, Cabey Lewis's handlers are trying to get Sammy Angott, only conqueror of Pep, to second their man when he fights Willie at Hartford tomorrow.

ORDERS IS ORDERS

When fiery George Stallings managed the Rochester Internationals back in 1925, a rookie pitcher, Jerry Mallett (later a Texas League manager) came up to bat in a tight spot. . . . "Think you can hit this guy?" Stallings asked. . . . "Sure," replied Mallet, who then whiffed on three pitches . . . Stallings blew up. "Get out of this ball park," he ordered. "Go and burn up that uniform. You're no ball player." . . . Overwhelmed by the torrent of words, Mallet did just what Stallings ordered and set fire to his monkey suit. . . . Warned to steer clear of Stallings, the youngster hid in his room all the next day and finally, after repeated knocks went unanswered, the door was forced open. . . . In strode Stallings, waving a sheaf of bills. . . . "But Mr. Stallings, I burned the uniform," Mallet wailed. . . . "Here's $50," replied the manager, handing him the money. "I've told that to 19,000 ball players and you're the first one who either had the courage or was dumb enough to do it."

MONDAY MATINEE

Baltimore hears that Lt. Joe Maniaci, the Bainbridge Commodores' grid coach, can have a post-war job bringing back football at Fordham and also that he heads the line at Maryland, where Doc Spears may be on his way out. . . . Shorty Ray, the National Football League's rules technician, was captain of the first basketball team at the U. of Illinois. . . . Two cage teams will be wearing Utah U. uniforms this season. When Lt. R. E. Volger, former Utah student, asked Coach Vadal Peterson for some used uniforms for a G.I. team in Italy, he specified that the name Utah should not be removed.

SECRET PRACTICE

Ed McKeever, Notre Dame football coach who devotes four hours every morning to teaching physical training to Navy trainees, confesses that he has gone over the Navy obstacle course just once. . . . "I tried it at noon when nobody was looking, just to see if I could make it," says Ed.

SERVICE DEPT.

The Fifth Army boxing team that won the inter-Allied title in Africa last year won't defend its championship. There's a slight matter of a war to be attended to first. . . . Sergeants Brad Ecklund (Oregon), John Hansell (Villanova) and Bill Short (Louisiana State) of the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Base football team all are former judo instructors who switched to become air mechanics. . . . Maybe they didn't want to risk too many holding penalties.

Dewey Relaxes On Vacation

Sea Island Beach, Ga., Nov. 13 (AP)—Golf and swimming—and "a chance to play with my two boys" rated a high priority on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's vacation schedule today at this south Georgia resort.

The New York executive came here yesterday with his wife and two sons, Thomas, Jr., 12 and John Martin, 8, to seek relaxation from his strenuous but unsuccessful campaign for President on the Republican ticket.

Also accompanying the Governor were Paul E. Lockwood, his secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. (Pat) Logan, close family friends.

SCHOOL CHAMPS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Westinghouse High School Bulldogs today held their tenth city scholastic football championship by virtue of an 18-13 triumph over the Perry High Commodores before 7,500 in Pitt stadium Saturday.

RELIEF REPORT

Harrisburg, Nov. 13 (AP)—A slowdown in the former steady decline of relief cases was attributed today by Acting Assistant Secretary Robert P. Wray to "the limited employability of today's assistance recipients." Only 1,300 persons left the relief rolls in October compared to 4,138 persons in June.

REDSKINS TAKE EASTERN LEAD; EAGLES IN TIE

Chicago, Nov. 13 (AP)—Although Washington's Redskins are warwhooping ahead at the moment, the eastern division race of the waning national football league campaign appears headed for a torrid drive towards the championship wire.

Unlike the western section in which Green Bay virtually sewed up divisional honors yesterday as Peerless Don Hutson steered the Packers to a 42--7 win over Cleveland, the eastern circuit still has a three-club scrap sputtering.

The Redskins eased out of a first place tie with Philadelphia by rallying for a 10-0 triumph over Brooklyn while the Eagles were stymied by the third-place New York Giants 21-21 for their second dead-lock of the season. That gave the 'Skins five victories against one tie, a 31-31 affair with the Eagles, and dropped Philadelphia into second with a four won, twice-tied record.

An aggregate of 103,431 fans including 33,248 at Philadelphia for Shibe Park's second largest football crowd, witnessed yesterday's loop skirmishing which also produced identical 21-7 victories by the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions over Boston and Cardinal-Pittsburgh respectively.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—National football league standings:

Eastern Division

Buffalo Beats Hornets On Ice

The Pittsburgh Hornets seem to have lost their sting in the American Hockey League.

Their latest setback came at Buffalo last night where the Bisons delighted a crowd of 9,308 by rapping home three goals in the last period for a 5-to-2 triumph.

Meantime the onrushing Indianapolis Caps won their second game of the week with a rush of five goals within 10 minutes in the last period to swamp Hershey, 5 to 1, before a record crowd of 8,194 at Indianapolis. Pete Leswick got two of the Caps goals and assisted in a third.

Providence came from behind twice to tie the Cleveland Barons, 3 to 3, before 3,500 at Providence in another Sunday night tilt.

SAYS OVERWORK IS SHORTENING DOCTORS' LIVES

BY FRANK CAREY

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis, Nov. 13—Dr. Edgar G. Ballenger of Atlanta, Ga., president-elect of the Southern Medical Association, expressed his belief today that an average of two to three years has been cut from the normal life span of a high percentage of home front doctors due to "wartime overwork."

At the same time, however, he said he believed the heavy demands made on the depleted ranks of doctors left at home in the early days of war were rapidly being compensated for by "a new attitude of cooperation on the part of patients which is leading many of them to come to the doctors' offices for minor complaints," adding:

Higher Than In Services

"The patients are helping us to carry on by showing a willingness to wait without protest when there are long lines before them in waiting rooms."

Dr. Ballenger, in an interview prior to the opening of the association's 38th annual meeting, said he did not have statistics to prove his contention that the medical profession's home-front mortality rate was above normal expectancy, but added:

"From looking over statistics on mortality of doctors as published in the journal of the American Medical Association, I have seen that the mortality rate of doctors left at home has far exceeded that of those in the Armed Forces. It is my further impression that the death rate of those at home is exceedingly above the normal point, particularly in older age groups. x x"

Appendicitis proves fatal to more than 13,000 people every year.

PENN DEFEATS COLUMBIA AS TEMPLE FALLS

(By The Associated Press)

A 35-7 trouncing calmly administered by a superior University of Pennsylvania football eleven to an outclassed Columbia University aggregation highlighted the state's football week-end.

Penn State scored a close win, 7-6, over the Temple Owls in a game which featured a series of heartbreaking near misses for the Philadelphia team.

At Collegeville, Ursinus college defeated Franklin and Marshall, 2 to 0, in their annual football clash when Tackle Joe Topper blocked an F. and M. punt and the ball rolled out of the end zone.

Lafayette college journeyed to New Brunswick, New Jersey, to defeat Rutgers by a comfortable 39 to 0 score and thereby annex the mythical middle three football title.

Drexel, Bucknell Win

Drexel Tech avenged an earlier defeat by administering a 30-0 drubbing to the visiting Bloomsburg State Teachers' college V-12 football team.

The Muhlenberg college eleven went down, 16 to 6, before a green but aggressive Princeton university football team, opening an informal three-game football season for the latter. The game was played at Princeton.

At Lewisburg Bucknell's Bisons stampeded City College of New York, 78 to 0, and came within a single point of tying their all-time scoring record. An outclassed Lehigh university eleven fell before an overpowering West Virginia team 71 to 0, Ohio State trounced Pitt 54 to 19, and Swarthmore came through to beat New York university 21 to 0 in other state collegiate games.

Toronto Winning Streak Shattered

(By The Associated Press)

Toronto's six - game winning streak in the National Hockey league was rudely shattered by Detroit last night.

Aroused by their unexpected defeat at the hands of the New York Rangers on Saturday, the Red Wings swarmed all over the league leaders for a 4 to 2 triumph before 13,384, the largest turnout of the season at the motor city.

Montreal, beaten for the second time by Toronto on Saturday, climbed back within one game of the top by licking the Chicago Blackhawks, 4 to 2, last night before 16,363 at Chicago. Goalie Bill Rurnan did yeoman work in the Montreal goal while Ray Getliffe scored the winning goal on a 40-foot shot in the second period.

Boston's Bruins, apparently facing their fourth defeat, scored three goals within one minute and 35 seconds in the third period to gain a 5-5 tie with the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden.

Churchill Favors Strong French Army

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—Frenchmen had today from Prime Minister Winston Churchill the assurance that Great Britain desires to see France possessed of a powerful army and united under the government of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Speaking in French before a cheering assemblage yesterday in the Hotel De Ville, Churchill said the Germans might be beaten within the next six months.

"We hope as much of the French army as possible will be able to engage in the final battles," he said.

Churchill visualized a powerful and well equipped French army as an aid in re-establishing stability in Europe, and a united France as a help in "protecting us from a repetition of German aggression."

The coastline of Norway, including the greater islands and indentations, is about 12,000 miles.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—For the first time in 24 years of basketball coaching at Western Michigan college, Herbert W. Read doesn't have a single veteran on his squad. . . . Last year he started with 14 lettermen and only lost to one collegiate rival. . . . While the starting gate is supposed to be a modern device for hoss racing, history shows that the Romans used "starting chambers" as early as 221 B.C. and eventually abandoned them. . . . Since he left the Navy, featherweight champ Willie Pep has won 13 fights. And to double the jinx, Cabey Lewis's handlers are trying to get Sammy Angott, only conqueror of Pep, to second their man when he fights Willie at Hartford tomorrow.

ORDERS IS ORDERS

When fiery George Stallings managed the Rochester Internationals back in 1925, a rookie pitcher, Jerry Mallett (later a Texas League manager) came up to bat in a tight spot. . . . "Think you can hit this guy?" Stallings asked. . . . "Sure," replied Mallet, who then whiffed on three pitches . . . Stallings blew up. "Get out of this ball park," he ordered. "Go and burn up that uniform. You're no ball player." . . . Overwhelmed by the torrent of words, Mallet did just what Stallings ordered and set fire to his monkey suit. . . . Warned to steer clear of Stallings, the youngster hid in his room all the next day and finally, after repeated knocks went unanswered, the door was forced open. . . . In strode Stallings, waving a sheaf of bills. . . . "But Mr. Stallings, I burned the uniform," Mallet wailed. . . . "Here's $50," replied the manager, handing him the money. "I've told that to 19,000 ball players and you're the first one who either had the courage or was dumb enough to do it."

MONDAY MATINEE

Baltimore hears that Lt. Joe Maniaci, the Bainbridge Commodores' grid coach, can have a post-war job bringing back football at Fordham and also that he heads the line at Maryland, where Doc Spears may be on his way out. . . . Shorty Ray, the National Football League's rules technician, was captain of the first basketball team at the U. of Illinois. . . . Two cage teams will be wearing Utah U. uniforms this season. When Lt. R. E. Volger, former Utah student, asked Coach Vadal Peterson for some used uniforms for a G.I. team in Italy, he specified that the name Utah should not be removed.

SECRET PRACTICE

Ed McKeever, Notre Dame football coach who devotes four hours every morning to teaching physical training to Navy trainees, confesses that he has gone over the Navy obstacle course just once. . . . "I tried it at noon when nobody was looking, just to see if I could make it," says Ed.

SERVICE DEPT.

The Fifth Army boxing team that won the inter-Allied title in Africa last year won't defend its championship. There's a slight matter of a war to be attended to first. . . . Sergeants Brad Ecklund (Oregon), John Hanzell (Villanova) and Bill Short (Louisiana State) of the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Base football team all are former judo instructors who switched to become air mechanics. . . . Maybe they didn't want to risk too many holding penalties.

Dewey Relaxes On Vacation

Sea Island Beach, Ga., Nov. 13 (AP)—Golf and swimming—and "a chance to play with my two boys" rated a high priority on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's vacation schedule today at this south Georgia resort.

The New York executive came here yesterday with his wife and two sons, Thomas, Jr., 12 and John Martin, 8, to seek relaxation from his strenuous but unsuccessful campaign for President on the Republican ticket.

Also accompanying the Governor were Paul E. Lockwood, his secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. (Pat) Logan, close family friends.

SCHOOL CHAMPS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Westinghouse High School Bulldogs today held their tenth city scholastic football championship by virtue of an 18-13 triumph over the Perry High Commodores before 7,500 in Pitt stadium Saturday.

RELIEF REPORT

Harrisburg, Nov. 13 (AP)—A slowdown in the former steady decline of relief cases was attributed today by Acting Assistant Secretary Robert P. Wray to "the limited employability of today's assistance recipients." Only 1,300 persons left the relief rolls in October compared to 4,138 persons in June.

REDSKINS TAKE EASTERN LEAD; EAGLES IN TIE

Chicago, Nov. 13 (AP)—Although Washington's Redskins are war-whooping ahead at the moment, the eastern division race of the waning national football league campaign appears headed for a torrid drive towards the championship wire.

Unlike the western section in which Green Bay virtually sewed up divisional honors yesterday as Peerless Don Hutson steered the Packers to a 42--7 win over Cleveland, the eastern circuit still has a three-club scrap sputtering.

The Redskins eased out of a first place tie with Philadelphia by rallying for a 10-0 triumph over Brooklyn while the Eagles were stymied by the third-place New York Giants 21-21 for their second dead-lock of the season. That gave the 'Skins five victories against one tie, a 31-31 affair with the Eagles, and dropped Philadelphia into second with a four won, twice-tied record.

An aggregate of 103,431 fans including 33,248 at Philadelphia for Shibe Park's second largest football crowd, witnessed yesterday's loop skirmishing which also produced identical 21-7 victories by the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions over Boston and Cardinal-Pittsburgh respectively.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—National football league standings:

Eastern Division

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	O.P.
Washington	5	0	1	135	89
Philadelphia	4	0	2	163	83
New York	4	1	1	128	62
Boston	1	6	0	55	175
Brooklyn	0	7	0	63	112
Western Division
Green Bay	7	1	0	203	97
Chicago Bears	4	2	1	160	117
Detroit	3	3	1	111	109
Cleveland	3	4	0	128	166
Card-Pitt	0	7	0	75	211

Sunday's Results

Green Bay 42, Cleveland 7.
Detroit 21, Card-Pitt 7.
New York 21, Philadelphia 21 (tie)
Chicago Bears 21, Boston 7.
Washington 10, Brooklyn 0.

Buffalo Beats Hornets On Ice

The Pittsburgh Hornets seem to have lost their sting in the American Hockey League.

Their latest setback came at Buffalo last night where the Bisons delighted a crowd of 9,308 by rapping home three goals in the last period for a 5-to-2 triumph.

Meantime the onrushing Indianapolis Caps won their second game of the week with a rush of five goals within 10 minutes in the last period to swamp Hershey, 5 to 1, before a record crowd of 8,194 at Indianapolis. Pete Leswick got two of the Caps goals and assisted in a third.

Providence came from behind twice to tie the Cleveland Barons, 3 to 3, before 3,500 at Providence in another Sunday night tilt.

SAYS OVERWORK IS SHORTENING DOCTORS' LIVES

BY FRANK CAREY

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis, Nov. 13—Dr. Edgar G. Ballenger of Atlanta, Ga., president-elect of the Southern Medical Association, expressed his belief today that an average of two to three years has been cut from the normal life span of a high percentage of home front doctors due to "war-time overwork."

At the same time, however, he said he believed the heavy demands made on the depleted ranks of doctors left at home in the early days of war were rapidly being compensated for by "a new attitude of cooperation on the part of patients which is leading many of them to come to the doctors' offices for minor complaints," adding:

Higher Than In Services

"The patients are helping us to carry on by showing a willingness to wait without protest when there are long lines before them in waiting rooms."

Dr. Ballenger, in an interview prior to the opening of the association's 38th annual meeting, said he did not have statistics to prove his contention that the medical professiin's home-front mortality rate was above normal expectancy, but added:

"From looking over statistics on mortality of doctors as published in the journal of the American Medical Association, I have seen that the mortality rate of doctors lert at home has far exceeded that of those in the Armed Forces. It is my further impression that the death rate of those at home is exceedingly above the normal point, particularly in older age groups. x x"

Appendicitis proves fatal to more than 13,000 people every year.

PENN DEFEATS COLUMBIA AS TEMPLE FALLS

(By The Associated Press)

A 35-7 trouncing calmly administered by a superior University of Pennsylvania football eleven to an outclassed Columbia University aggregation highlighted the state's football week-end.

Penn State scored a close win, 7-6, over the Temple Owls in a game which featured a series of heartbreaking near misses for the Philadelphia team.

At Collegeville, Ursinus college defeated Franklin and Marshall, 2 to 0, in their annual football clash when Tackle Joe Topper blocked an F. and M. punt and the ball rolled out of the end zone.

Lafayette college journeyed to New Brunswick, New Jersey, to defeat Rutgers by a comfortable 39 to 0 score and thereby annex the mythical middle three football title.

Drexel, Bucknell Win

Drexel Tech avenged an earlier defeat by administering a 30-0 drubbing to the visiting Bloomsburg State Teachers' college V-12 football team.

The Muhlenberg college eleven went down, 16 to 6, before a green but aggressive Princeton university football team, opening an informal three-game football season for the latter. The game was played at Princeton.

At Lewisburg Bucknell's Bisons stampeded City College of New York, 78 to 0, and came within a single point of tying their all-time scoring record. An outclassed Lehigh university eleven fell before an overpowering West Virginia team 71 to 0, Ohio State trounced Pitt 54 to 19, and Swarthmore came through to beat New York university 21 to 0 in other state collegiate games.

Toronto Winning Streak Shattered

(By The Associated Press)

Toronto's six - game winning streak in the National Hockey league was rudely shattered by Detroit last night.

Aroused by their unexpected defeat at the hands of the New York Rangers on Saturday, the Red Wings swarmed all over the league leaders for a 4 to 2 triumph before 13,384, the largest turnout of the season at the motor city.

Montreal, beaten for the second time by Toronto on Saturday, climbed back within one game of the top by licking the Chicago Blackhawks, 4 to 2, last night before 16,363 at Chicago. Goalie Bill Rurnan did yeoman work in the Montreal goal while Ray Getliffe scored the winning goal on a 40-foot shot in the second period.

Boston's Bruins, apparently facing their fourth defeat, scored three goals within one minute and 35 seconds in the third period to gain a 5-5 tie with the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden.

Churchill Favors Strong French Army

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—Frenchmen had today from Prime Minister Winston Churchill the assurance that Great Britain desires to see France possessed of a powerful army and united under the government of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Speaking in French before a cheering assemblage yesterday in the Hotel De Ville, Churchill said the Germans might be beaten within the next six months.

"We hope as much of the French army as possible will be able to engage in the final battles," he said.

Churchill visualized a powerful and well equipped French army as an aid in re-establishing stability in Europe, and a united France as a help in "protecting us from a repetition of German aggression."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—For the first time in 24 years of basketball coaching at Western Michigan college, Herbert W. Read doesn't have a single veteran on his squad. . . . Last year he started with 14 lettermen and only lost to one collegiate rival. . . . While the starting gate is supposed to be a modern device for hoss racing, history shows that the Romans used "starting chambers" as early as 221 B.C. and eventually abandoned them. . . . Since he left the Navy, featherweight champ Willie Pep has won 13 fights. And to double the jinx, Cabey Lewis's handlers are trying to get Sammy Angott, only conqueror of Pep, to second their man when he fights Willie at Hartford tomorrow.

ORDERS IS ORDERS

When fiery George Stallings managed the Rochester Internationals back in 1925, a rookie pitcher, Jerry Mallett (later a Texas League manager) came up to bat in a tight spot. . . . "Think you can hit this guy?" Stallings asked. . . . "Sure," replied Mallet, who then whiffed on three pitches . . . Stallings blew up. "Get out of this ball park," he ordered. "Go and burn up that uniform. You're no ball player." . . . Overwhelmed by the torrent of words, Mallet did just what Stallings ordered and set fire to his monkey suit. . . . Warned to steer clear of Stallings, the youngster hid in his room all the next day and finally, after repeated knocks went unanswered, the door was forced open. . . . In strode Stallings, waving a sheaf of bills. . . . "But Mr. Stallings, I burned the uniform," Mallet wailed. . . . "Here's $50," replied the manager, handing him the money. "I've told that to 19,000 ball players and you're the first one who either had the courage or was dumb enough to do it."

MONDAY MATINEE

Baltimore hears that Lt. Joe Maniaci, the Bainbridge Commodores' grid coach, can have a post-war job bringing back football at Fordham and also that he heads the line at Maryland, where Doc Spears may be on his way out. . . . Shorty Ray, the National Football League's rules technician, was captain of the first basketball team at the U. of Illinois. . . . Two cage teams will be wearing Utah U. uniforms this season. When Lt. R. E. Volger, former Utah student, asked Coach Vadal Peterson for some used uniforms for a G.I. team in Italy, he specified that the name Utah should not be removed.

SECRET PRACTICE

Ed McKeever, Notre Dame football coach who devotes four hours every morning to teaching physical training to Navy trainees, confesses that he has gone over the Navy obstacle course just once. . . . "I tried it at noon when nobody was looking, just to see if I could make it," says Ed.

SERVICE DEPT.

The Fifth Army boxing team that won the inter-Allied title in Africa last year won't defend its championship. There's a slight matter of a war to be attended to first. . . . Sergeants Brad Ecklund (Oregon), John Hanzell (Villanova) and Bill Short (Louisiana State) of the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Base football team all are former judo instructors who switched to become air mechanics. . . . Maybe they didn't want to risk too many holding penalties.

Dewey Relaxes On Vacation

Sea Island Beach, Ga., Nov. 13 (AP)—Golf and swimming—and "a chance to play with my two boys" rated a high priority on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's vacation schedule today at this south Georgia resort.

The New York executive came here yesterday with his wife and two sons, Thomas, Jr., 12 and John Martin, 8, to seek relaxation from his strenuous but unsuccessful campaign for President on the Republican ticket.

Also accompanying the Governor were Paul E. Lockwood, his secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. (Pat) Logan, close family friends.

SCHOOL CHAMPS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Westinghouse High School Bulldogs today held their tenth city scholastic football championship by virtue of an 18-13 triumph over the Perry High Commodores before 7,500 in Pitt stadium Saturday.

RELIEF REPORT

Harrisburg, Nov. 13 (AP)—A slowdown in the former steady decline of relief cases was attributed today by Acting Assistant Secretary Robert P. Wray to "the limited employability of today's assistance recipients." Only 1,300 persons left the relief rolls in October compared to 4,138 persons in June.

REDSKINS TAKE EASTERN LEAD: EAGLES IN TIE

Chicago, Nov. 13 (AP)—Although Washington's Redskins are war-whooping ahead at the moment, the eastern division race of the waning national football league campaign appears headed for a torrid drive towards the championship wire.

Unlike the western section in which Green Bay virtually sewed up divisional honors yesterday as Peerless Don Hutson steered the Packers to a 42--7 win over Cleveland, the eastern circuit still has a three-club scrap sputtering.

The Redskins eased out of a first place tie with Philadelphia by rallying for a 10-0 triumph over Brooklyn while the Eagles were stymied by the third-place New York Giants 21-21 for their second dead-lock of the season. That gave the 'Skins five victories against one tie, a 31-31 affair with the Eagles, and dropped Philadelphia into second with a four won, twice-tied record.

An aggregate of 103,431 fans including 33,248 at Philadelphia for Shibe Park's second largest football crowd, witnessed yesterday's loop skirmishing which also produced identical 21-7 victories by the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions over Boston and Cardinal-Pittsburgh respectively.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—National football league standings:

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	O.P.
Eastern Division
Washington	5	0	1	135	89
Philadelphia	4	0	2	163	83
New York	4	1	1	128	62
Boston	1	6	0	55	175
Brooklyn	0	7	0	63	112
Western Division
Green Bay	7	1	0	203	97
Chicago Bears	4	2	1	160	117
Detroit	3	3	1	111	109
Cleveland	3	4	0	128	166
Card-Pitt	0	7	0	75	211

Sunday's Results

Green Bay 42, Cleveland 7.
Detroit 21, Card-Pitt 7.
New York 21, Philadelphia 21 (tie)
Chicago Bears 21, Boston 7.
Washington 10, Brooklyn 0.

Buffalo Beats Hornets On Ice

The Pittsburgh Hornets seem to have lost their sting in the American Hockey League.

Their latest setback came at Buffalo last night where the Bisons delighted a crowd of 9,308 by rapping home three goals in the last period for a 5-to-2 triumph.

Meantime the onrushing Indianapolis Caps won their second game of the week with a rush of five goals within 10 minutes in the last period to swamp Hershey, 5 to 1, before a record crowd of 8,194 at Indianapolis. Pete Leswick got two of the Caps goals and assisted in a third.

Providence came from behind twice to tie the Cleveland Barons, 3 to 3, before 3,500 at Providence in another Sunday night tilt.

SAYS OVERWORK IS SHORTENING DOCTORS' LIVES

BY FRANK CAREY

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis, Nov. 13—Dr. Edgar G. Ballenger of Atlanta, Ga., president-elect of the Southern Medical Association, expressed his belief today that an average of two to three years has been cut from the normal life span of a high percentage of home front doctors due to "war-time overwork."

At the same time, however, he said he believed the heavy demands made on the depleted ranks of doctors left at home in the early days of war were rapidly being compensated for by "a new attitude of cooperation on the part of patients which is leading many of them to come to the doctors' offices for minor complaints," adding:

Higher Than In Services

"The patients are helping us to carry on by showing a willingness to wait without protest when there are long lines before them in waiting rooms."

Dr. Ballenger, in an interview prior to the opening of the association's 38th annual meeting, said he did not have statistics to prove his contention that the medical professiin's home-front mortality rate was above normal expectancy, but added:

"From looking over statistics on mortality of doctors as published in the journal of the American Medical Association, I have seen that the mortality rate of doctors lert at home has far exceeded that of those in the Armed Forces. It is my further impression that the death rate of those at home is exceedingly above the normal point, particularly in older age groups. x x"

Appendicitis proves fatal to more than 13,000 people every year.
